DEMOCRATS ADOPT REPEAL PLANK

ONLY THREE STATES OPPOSE WHEN PARTY PLEDGED TO REPEAL

Wet Demonstration Is Staged; Plank Is Approved 4 to 1

CONVENTION HEAD-QUARTERS, Chicago, June 30.—Democrats in national convention today repudiated the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act. By a four to one vote the convention pledged the party to repeal and to modification of the Volstead act to legalize beer and wine.

Twelve years of inter-party battling entered a new phase as Pat Haltigan, house of representatives reading clerk drafted for the convention services, belittled through the roll call.

Three lonely states voted unanimously for the so-called "moderate" prohibition plank merely to submit the repeal issue to state conventions. Twenty-nine states voted unanimously with the wets.
The three standpat delegations were Georgia, Mississippi and Oklahoma.

The vote was 934 to 2134.
The bandwagon of assent was a dry rout—if there were any dries.
Chairman Gilbert M. Hitchcock labored perspiring through the brief statement of party policy.
Now and then a burst of applause welcomed this or that pledge to make things better. Those were mere trial flights of approval. Finally Hitchcock reached the last plank.

"We favor repeal."
He got no further. With a rising shouting vote of assent the delegates assured him he was right.
State standards went up in the air.
Delegates hopped into the aisle
Police momentarily tried to keep paraders in their own section. It was no use. Kansas, Oklahoma, Geo-gia, Mississippi and Utah sat under motionless standards. They would not parade.

An organ blared "How Dry I Am." Senator Millard Tydings, Md., young, handsome bachelor beamed into the crowd.

"We get our beer," prophesied young Senator Tydings.

Senator David I. Walsh, Dem., Mass., who led the committee fight for the repeal plank smiled approvingly from the speakers' stand.
For his hard labors Walsh was assigned floor leadership of the wet fight.

Nearby was Senator Cordell Hull, Tenn., glum, gnawing on the frame of his spectacles and finally reading a book. He was the leader of the "moderate" submissionists.
Tired finally, the delegates found their seats. Chairman Thomas J.
Walsh obtained agreement to limit debate—so much on a side.

The parade of notables began.
Walsh is a big man. His voice is big. Brandishing an admonitory finger, the delegates against avoiding the prohibition issue. He got a big hand.

"The immediate question now is how we are going to get rid of prohibition and how soon," boomed Walsh into a barrage of cheers.
"The issue is repeal of the 18th amendment or nullification. There is no middle ground. The time has come to realize that the 18th amendment will never be observed and can never be enforced.

Hull countered Walsh at once.
He pleaded that repeal should not be made a political issue. He

VICE PRESIDENT?

The name of Mrs. Isabella Greenway, above, national committeewoman from Arizona, has been frequently mentioned at Chicago in connection with the Democratic vice presidential nomination. The Arizona delegation is expected to push her nomination.

OHIO DELEGATES TO STICK WITH WHITE UPON FIRST BALLOT

Confident Of Harmony Despite Clash In Delegation

CHICAGO, June 30.—Despite a flare of disagreement between Congressman Martin L. Sweeney and W. B. Congwer, Cleveland Democratic leader, Henry Brunner, state central chairman, and James M. Cox, former Ohio governor, were confident they could carry out the state's harmony agreement.

The agreement will bring Gov.
George White the vote on initial ballots and then carry the delegates to other Ohio aspirants to the presidential nomination.

Sweeney clashed with Congwer when he supported the Gov. Roosevelt forces in the permanent chairmanship fight. He indicated he would vote for White, then for Alfred E. Smith of New York.

Ohio's vote for favorite sons was a gain for the anti-Roosevelt followers whose prospects have ebbed and flowed with every turn of events in the tumultuous meeting.

They cited the stupendous ovation given Smith on the convention floor last night as indicating sentiment against Roosevelt.

Ohio contributed forty-nine votes for repeal to the epochal balloting during the night session on the prohibition plank.

Both White and Senator Robert J. Bulkley were more and more prominently drawn into the picture for the vice-presidential nomination. Bulkley spoke forcefully and with loud applause for the repeal plank. Delegation leaders, however, have flatly denied the state would enter any trade with any possible nominee, whereby Ohio would lend support in return for the second place on the national ticket.

Gov. White has visited the headquarters of campaign leaders here.
"I am a fatalist in politics," he said, "and Governor Roosevelt is not yet nominated."

MRS. HELEN MOODY WINS SEMI-FINAL

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 30.—
Mrs. Helen Moody today won in straight sets over Miss Mary Heeley, rising young English star, in the semi-final round of the English tennis championships to provide an all-California finish to the woman's singles division.

Mrs. Moody won by 6-2, 6-0.
Mrs. Moody will face her personal rival, "The other Helen," Miss Jacobs, also of California, in the deciding match.

SENATOR SHEPPARD WILL VOTE FOR SUBMISSION OF REPEAL

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Senator Sheppard, Dem., Texas, co-author of the eighteenth amendment announced today he would vote for submission if the question of repeal unless directed otherwise by a referendum in his state.

"I shall vote for the submission of the question of repeal unless the referendum in the Democratic primary in Texas on this subject in July results unfavorably to submission," Sheppard said in com-

CANTON MAYOR DIES SUDDENLY OF HEART ATTACK NEAR AKRON

Curtis Succumbs In Roadhouse; Had Stormy Career

CANTON, O., June 30.—The body of Mayor C. C. Curtis of Canton, who died suddenly of heart disease at Riley's roadhouse in Summit County, north of here, was to be returned home today.

Mayor Curtis' stormy career in municipal politics had attracted state-wide attention. He was removed from office by Gov. A. V.
Donahy in 1924 and was twice re-elected in later years on vindication platforms.

Curtis was 50. The roadhouse where he died last night is in For-tage Lakes Road, near Akron. He had motored there with A. W.
Baum, Canton plumbing contractor, who said Curtis apparently was in good health until the moment he collapsed.

At the time of Curtis' removal from office in 1924, his brother, E.
Curtis, whom he had appointed safety director, also was removed and convicted of accepting a bribe.

The crusade against vice and gambling at that time brought the murder of Don Mellett, Canton editor.

In 1927 Mayor Curtis was re-elected and although defeated by Herman Witter in 1929, he was re-elected again last fall.

E. E. Curtis, after serving his first term for bribery, was convicted on a liquor charge in 1930 and served a year in Atlanta Penitentiary.

KIDNAP WOMAN BANK WORKER

Bandits Force Clerk To Open Safe

WOODSTOCK, O., June 30.—Kidnaped from her home at 2-30 a. m. today by two bandits, Mrs. Lena Woodward, clerk in the Peoples' Bank in this Champaign County town, was taken to the institution and forced to open the vault for the robbers who secured less than $100.

With a ladder taken from the fire department across the street from Mrs. Woodward's home, the bandits crawled through her bedroom window. She was awakened by the men who told her to remain quiet and get dressed.

She was unable to open the inner door of the safe which is operated by a time lock. This part of the safe held approximately $1,000.

Authorities of Urbana, Marysville and other surrounding towns were asked to help hunt for the robbers.

REPRISAL IS PLAN OF GREAT BRITAIN

LONDON, June 30.—Reprisals against the Irish Free State for its failure to pay the land annuities due Great Britain were announced in the House of Commons today by J. H. Thomas, dominions secretary.

Thomas said no payment on the annuities due today had been received, and therefore he would introduce in the house on Monday proposals to deal with the situation.

menting on the Democratic prohibition plank. "Another qualification, so far as my vote is concerned, is that the pendency of the amendment involving the question of repeal must be limited to a definite number of years as was the case with the 18th amendment.

"If the question of repeal is submitted to the states I shall oppose repeal when my state takes up the matter of determining its attitude.
While I shall vote to submit, I am opposed to repeal."

Three Trainmen And Passengers Dead In Crash

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio,
June 30.—Two Cincinnati and Lake Erie traction cars raced down a section of track and crashed together with a roar three miles south of here today.

Six persons were known to have been killed, and a seventh was reported injured fatally. Several others were injured.

A passenger car, northbound from Hamilton, O., was struck by a two-car freight carrier, bound south from Cleveland.
Officials believed the passenger failed to stop at a switch to allow the freight to pass.

The dead:
Ray Bowman, Dayton, freight
motorman.

Joe Brosse, Hamilton, passenger
motorman.

R. C. Wilson, Hamilton, C. L. and E. trainman.

Harry B. Augsberger, Trenton.
Jack Augsberger, his son.
George Betz.

An unidentified girl was believed to have been crushed fatally.

The cars came together at a curve, preventing the motormen from using their breaks to any effect when they bore down on each other with little distance between them.

Tracks of the railroad probably will not be cleared to traffic before nightfall.

DELEGATES REFUSE TO REPEAT PROGRAM

CHICAGO, June 30.—Protests by delegates of the Democratic national convention prevented last night the re-reading of platform reports, proposed by Chairman Thomas J. Walsh at the request of radio broadcasting chains.

When the chains were occupied with commercial programs, the convention had heard the reading of the platform and minority reports by Gov. W. H. Murray and William Gibbs McAdoo. These had not been broadcast.

Cries of "no" greeted Walsh's suggestion that the reports be read again for the benefit of the radio audience and one delegate inquired whether the wet demonstration was to be staged again. Finally, officials of the broadcasting companies withdrew their request.

SEEK RACKETEERS IN SABOTAGE CASE

COLUMBUS, O., June 30.—
Racketeers who approached James L. Shain, owner of a taxicab company here, with an offer of reprisals and terrorism as a means to force cab rates higher, today were sought in connection with sabotage in the bitter rate struggle among Columbus cab companies.

Shain said the men offered to force rates up for $300. Officers believed they may have been responsible for the burning of a cab yesterday and for a wave of roberies of drivers. Five drivers were robbed during the night.

One company offers transportation for ten cents within city limits and other companies have adhered to a rate of 15 cents.

WHITE HONORED AT CONVENTION

Because of his past service as chairman of the Democratic national committee from 1920 to 1924
Gov. George White of Ohio became the first avowed candidate for the presidency to be presented to the convention in Chicago. He is shown, above, center, on the speaker's platform with John W.
Davis, left, former presidential nominee, and Joseph Tumulty, former secretary to the late President Woodrow Wilson. Below, Gen. William Mitchell whispers a few

HOOVEN AND ALLISON MILL IS ON TWENTY-FOUR HOUR BASIS

Operation for the hard fibre mill at The Hooven and Allison Co.
cordage plant on Cincinnati Ave.
on a twenty-four hour basis was begun
Wednesday night.

The six-hour night shift thus added will furnish employment to between fifty-five and sixty additional workers for an indefinite length of time, company officials say.

Binder twine is manufactured in the hard fibre mill.

A company announcement said that a heavy wheat harvest in the West and Northwest has increased the demand for binder twine, making necessary a greater output than had been anticipated.

It was indicated by officials that the twenty-four hour mill schedule may be continued at least during the wheat harvest season.

The hard fibre mill began operating on a sixteen-hour day about two months ago, with two shifts of workers. Two extra hours to the daily schedule were added a week ago.

Three shifts are now operating,
the first from 5 a. m. to 2 p. m.;
the second from 2 p. m. to 11 p. m.
and the night shift from 11 p. m.
to 5 a. m.

CURTIS DEFENSE WILL ATTACK POLICE TACTICS IN KIDNAPING

FLEMINGTON, N. J., June 30.—
State police tactics in the Lindbergh kidnaping investigation faced attack today as counsel for John Hughes Curtis indicated an attempt will be made to show the case was bungled, although evidence yesterday indicated an arrest is imminent.

Curtis, Norfolk shipbuilder, is on trial charged with impeding justice through his negotiations with the supposed kidnap gang, which he confessed were false.

The third day of the trial ended with Capt. John J. Lamb, of the state police, on the stand. Lamb was one of the police officers present when Curtis was questioned last night following discovery of the baby's body on May 12. The witness produced a 29-page typewritten statement which he said was a transcript of what Curtis said that night. Lamb had just started to read the statement when court adjourned until 10 a. m. today.

A startling statement by a witness yesterday indicated an important arrest in the kidnaping case was imminent. The witness, Frank F. Wilson, a special agent of the internal revenue bureau, credited with tracking down Al Capone's income, refused to divulge secret information he possessed.

Casually leading up to revelation,
Wilson said he had delayed interviewing an unnamed man because of Curtis' original story of the negotiations.

Efforts of counsel to have the man identified failed, then Wilson said:
"That man is not suspected, but he is in touch with persons who are. It would seriously affect the investigation to name him at this time."

ROOSEVELT GROUP IS PLANNING STRATEGY AS SESSION RESUMES

Ritchie And Baker Still Prominent As Compromise Candidates; Convention Will Not Select Nominee Until Late Thursday

CONVENTION HEADQUARTERS, Chicago, June 30.—
The name of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York was placed before the Democratic convention as a candidate for the nomination for President by Judge John E. Mack of New York this afternoon.

He was the first candidate nominated. As the roll call for nominating speeches began, Alabama, first called, yielded immediately to Judge Mack and the business of nominating was started.

CONVENTION HEADQUARTERS, Chicago, June 30.— Roosevelt forces, claiming that victory was just around the corner, planned a bold strategic move today.

They maintained that they had around 700 votes lined up for the first ballot. They professed confidence that they would, on an early ballot, gain the seventy more needed to nominate Franklin D. Roosevelt as the Democratic presidential candidate.

The Roosevelt strategy, devised last night, is for Alabama, the first state on the roll call, to yield to John E.
Mack of New York. Mack will place Roosevelt in nomination.

The psychological effect of having Roosevelt's name presented first was the object of this plan.

The convention surprised everyone early today by voting more than two-thirds for a wringing wet repeal platform plank.

After a turbulent night session the convention voted 934 to 2134
to stand on a platform demanding—not merely submitting—repeal of the eighteenth amendment and calling upon congress in the meantime to modify the Volstead act to restore beer.

This is as much as the most ardent wet ever asked for.

One week ago such a vote was thought beyond possibility.

Governor Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland and Newton D. Baker of Ohio continued in the forefront as possible compromise candidates.

But the anti-Roosevelt groups are as disorganized as they were when they came here last week.
Almost superhuman strategy is necessary now to pull them together in time to stop Roosevelt.

Balloting for the presidential candidate was expected to start late tonight or tomorrow.

The convention got only as far as the prohibition vote in the platform fight last night. Adjournment was taken at 1 a. m. to give delegates a few hours sleep.

They still had to consider the soldier bonus and several other planks offered by Governor Murray of Oklahoma. There was also a plank for protection of depositors in closed banks offered by William G. McAdoo, former secretary of treasury.

After the platform is adopted—and it is the shortest in major party history, probably, a simple, direct statement with a minimum of weasel words—the convention expected to turn on the circus business again and place the numerous presidential candidates in nomination.

This was due to continue possibly late into the night.

Carefully organized demonstrations were prepared for the numerous candidates.

The Roosevelt plan for Alabama, the first state on the roll-call, to yield to John E. Mack of New York, who has been selected to place Roosevelt in nomination is not as simple a matter as it seems.

New York is not solidly behind Roosevelt. The head of the New York delegation is John F. Curry, chief of Tammany Hall. If Alabama merely yielded to New York, John F. Curry would take the floor. Nobody knows what he would do. Certainly he would not be likely to place Roosevelt in nomination.

So it was arranged that Alabama should yield to "John E.
Mack of New York." There was some objection but the procedure was found to be entirely regular by parliamentary experts. So, there being nothing Curry could do about it, he acquiesced. Thus everything was set provided former Governor

TAX TEST CASE IS SET FOR HEARING

CINCINNATI, O., June 30.—Hearing of a suit brought by Robert N. Gorman, prosecutor, to enjoin the turning over to the state of Hamilton County under the intangible tax law will open tomorrow before Judge Chester R. Shook in common pleas court.

Gorman's suit, in which the county auditor and treasurer, are named as technical defendants, seeks to save for Hamilton County approximately $740,000 which would be distributed to other counties which failed to collect their quota of the intangible tax. His suit attacks the constitutionality of the distribution provisions.

Miss Hewett collapsed when, ot-ficers arrived.

GARRETTSVILLE, O., June 30.—
Miss Marie Hewett, assistant cashier, fought off three bandits Wednesday until she was able to touch a burglar alarm, and saved $15,000 for the First National Bank of Garretttsville.

The trio fled after the alarm was sounded scooping up approximately $1,000 from the open vault as they dashed out. They overlooked $15,000 in another part of the vault.

Miss Hewett collapsed when, ot-
ficers arrived.

DEATH CLAIMS MISS DOROTHEE JOHNSTON THURSDAY MORNING

Miss Dorothee M Johnston, 28, popular young Xenia woman and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Johnston, 204 W. Church St., died at Miami Valley Hospital, Dayton, Thursday morning at 3:20 o'clock following an extended illness. She had been confined to her home since November 1 and was removed to the hospital four weeks ago for treatment. She underwent a serious operation there Monday.

Miss Johnston was born in South Solon, Madison County, August 31, 1903, the daughter of L. S. and Florence Smith Johnston. The Johnston family moved to Xenia from Sedalia ten years ago. Prior to her illness Miss Johnston had been employed in the ready-to-wear department of the Hutchison and Gibeay Co., and had made many friends through her business affiliations. She was a member of Trinity M. E. Church.

Besides her parents Miss Johnston is survived by three sisters: the Misses Frances and Ruby Johnston, at home and Miss Erna Johnston, Sidney, N. Y.

Funeral services will be conducted at the home Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock and burial will be made in Sedalia Cemetery. Friends may call at the home after 7 o'clock Friday evening.

ALBERT YOUNG
Albert Young, 65, life-long resident in the Osborn vicinity, died at his home, one mile east of Osborn on the Yellow Springs Pike, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. He was a farmer and had resided near Osborn his entire life.

Mr. Young is survived by his widow, Mrs. Caroline Young, four sons: Herman, Howard, Gilbert and Ray Young, all of Osborn and a daughter, Mrs. Duff Stewart, Osborn. Three brothers David, Riverside, O., and Denton and William of Washington, also survive.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 1:45 o'clock at the home followed by services at 2:30 o'clock at the Fairfield Reformed Church. Burial will be made in Fairfield Cemetery.

FRANK MARSHALL
Funeral services for Frank Marshall, who died at his home in Bellbrook Wednesday morning, will be held at the home Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Burial will be made in Bellbrook Cemetery.

Plans for extensive remodeling work on the old first floor dining room and also on the second floor of the administration building at the O. S. and S. O. Home, at an estimated cost of $24,000, have been approved by the board of trustees. Bids are to be sought for the improvements.

The contemplated alterations had been included in plans drawn for the new dining hall under construction at the institution, but all bids submitted were rejected by the trustee board.

DEPRESSION CAUSES HOOKEY. LITTLE FALLS, N. Y.—The depression has created a plausible excuse for boys who "play hookey." When asked to explain why they failed to attend school, several boys explained they went fishing to provide food for hungry parents. Later the parents denied this.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

With the ancient is wisdom; and in length of days understanding.—Job, xii, 12.

SEEKING AID

The Senate rejected an amendment to the Democratic unemployment relief bill which provided for loans to enable Chicago to pay its teachers and other employees, although, we read, Senator Glenn warned it that such action would leave the city without policemen to "cope with the rising spirit of riot and revolution that is about to come upon us there."

When a city like Chicago cannot finance and police itself, American municipal government is in a bad way. Appealing to Washington for succor is both a confession of incompetence for self-government and the discovery of a willingness to surrender a birthright for a handout.

As Calvin Coolidge once pointed out, a State that does not properly perform its functions as such must expect the Government in Washington to step in and perform them for it. Government must be sustained on orderly and workable lines. When Washington steps in at the door, a part of a State's freedom of action goes out of the window. The Federal Government took Capone off Chicago's hands and now Senator Glenn wants it to loan Chicago money, which probably never would be repaid, as such "loans" seldom are, to support a police force. The end of that trail is the destruction of local government.

Cities that complain of upstate, downstate or outstate dominance must show that they are able to stand on their own feet if they want to be listened to. The rapid growth of great cities in this country has produced problems in municipal government which have not yet been solved but which must be solved by the cities themselves if they are to preserve the right to govern themselves. Chicago reveals no greater ineptitude in this connection than several other cities that might be mentioned, whose officials are constantly appealing to others to do for them what they should do themselves. All of them are flitting with remote authorities that will exact their pound of flesh for the aid they extend.

FRANKLIN'S DAILY DOZEN

As a young man, Benjamin Franklin worked out for himself the twelve following rules of daily conduct which he termed his daily dozen:

1. Temperance — Eat not to dullness.
2. Silence — Speak not but what may benefit others or yourself; avoid trifling conversation.
3. Order — Let all things have their places, let each part of your business have its time.
4. Resolution — Resolve to perform what you ought; perform without fail what you resolve.
5. Frugality — Make no expense but to do good to others or yourself; that is, waste nothing.
6. Industry — Lose no time; be always employed in something useful; cut off all unnecessary actions.
7. Sincerity — Use no harmful deceit; think innocently and justly and if you speak, speak accordingly.
8. Justice — Wrong none by doing injury or omitting the benefits that are your duty.
9. Moderation — Avoid extremes; forbear resenting injuries as much as you think you deserve.
10. Cleanliness — Tolerate no uncleanness of body, clothes or habitation.
11. Tranquillity — Be not disturbed at trifles, nor at accidents common or unavoidable.
12. Humility — Imitate Jesus and Socrates.

THE FOURTH

The police have received their annual instructions to be on the lookout, from now until after July 4th, for violators of the city ordinance governing the possession and discharge of fireworks. A decent regard for their own life and limb ought to be sufficient to induce people generally to make the police's task in this connection an easy one. The State fireworks law, tightened up in 1931, and the city ordinances have given this city an enviable record with respect to Fourth of July accidents. That record should be sustained and bettered.

The Glorious Fourth should not wear the sombre aspect of a blue-law Sunday. A little noise enlivens it and the display of fireworks under proper supervision adds to its spectacle. The thing to remember is that the Nation's birthday can be adequately celebrated, as other birthdays are, without the risk that marked and marred its celebration during many of the Nation's adolescent years.

ARTICLE FOR CITIZENSHIP DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

By WM. JOHN COOPER,
United States Commissioner of Education.

If the Great War established any one thing clearly it was that a whole nation goes to war with another nation or that groups of nations engage in battle with other groups of nations. Accordingly, while men and women of all social classes are required to support it, the leadership in conflict falls upon the educated classes. These men are required in the chemical warfare, in aircraft battles, and in the correlation of the various aspects of service. It is inconceivable, therefore, that our educated men should be entirely ignorant of the principles of war. In 1862 President Lincoln signed the first Morrill Act which brought into existence a new set of colleges. Each of these has been required to offer military education. At the present time good people are trying to have military training dropped from these colleges. It is more conceivable to think of the Army as using an entire college. It will use such a college not exactly as the Army has used them in the past, but to take a land grant college for example, one may think of the chemical laboratories which have been modified in such a way that their work leads to the chemical warfare division at the same time that students learn the arts of peace. They give attention to the manufacture of various kinds of gases or the preparation of the defense against these gases. It is true that there will be much less emphasis put upon drill as such for in general in trench warfare there is little opportunity to drill and very little emphasis needs to be given to marching. In a similar way the physics department will emphasize artillery and explosives. These are as essential in peace time as they are in war. Science instruction in our colleges is not yet a hundred years old. Nevertheless, it now has a splendid position in practically every college.

Just as the older form of college gives way to a newer type which gives a place to science, so must these new divisions emphasize the preparation required for a changed form of warfare. For it is only by having our educated men prepared for war that it can be avoided.

MY NEW YORK

By JAMES ASWELL

PARIS.—Ruminations of a ram-bler:

The man who designs new varieties of hors d'oeuvres for the tony restaurants.

A Russian taxi driver, speaking English, but little French, trying to find out where the occupant of his Italian-made car wants to go.

The Turk in full Ottoman costume employed as coffee pouter in a Parisian Chinese restaurant.

The inspector who knows more about the sewers of Paris than about its boulevards.

The information clerk in the American Express, answering queries about where the best permanent waves are to be had, about what time it is in Moscow at the moment, and about the best remedy for a champagne hangover.

The elderly ladies who preside over men's retiring rooms.

The kitchen employee who sees to it that sandwich bread isn't sliced too thick.

AS IT IS IN FRANCE

A refined French woman out for a stroll alone on the boulevards considers it her own fault if a masher annoys her. The theory is that if the proper attitude is taken, the proper iciness injected into the stare, pests will be discouraged. Yet girls sitting around the Dome in Montparnasse often have been disillusioned in a curious way. Hand-some young Frenchmen have gotten into conversation with them and ended by asking the girls to pay their checks and lend them 10 francs. The shock often makes the life hungry youngsters from America more discreet for weeks to come.

MAGNIF-CENT

A new high was achieved by me when I paid 50 cents for a week old copy of the New York American Sunday edition and walked off, leaving it on my café table.

The hit of the cabarets remains "J'ai Deux Amours", after two years. It's a touching tune.

Just encountered an American who is staying a month longer in Europe than he'd planned living on profits from dollars bootlegged in Vienna. The normal rate of exchange is seven schillings to the dollar, while business men forbid to import dollars are willing to pay eight and nine schillings for them.

FRENCH BARBERS

French barbers are so in love with Eau de Cologne that they'll douse you unexpectedly with the stuff so thoroughly that you leave a wake for days. They are masters of the true custom-built haircut, being willing to do your locks in scallop designs if you give the word. They have just discovered the violet ray and sun ray machines and if you will stand for their treatment they'll play with the apparatus for the better part of an hour.

Paris still is the only city in the world (and this is written with Broadway in mind as a close second), where it's possible to walk down the street in a checkered suit, silk hat and purple shoes without precipitating a ripple in the Left Bank sector.

Some rare ensembles are to be glimpsed but a wave of conservatism has set in causing the gentlemen with long hair, who love art, to run for the shears, making the Surrealists and other fadists in esthetics to seek cover.

LOVE'S OLD SWEET SONG!

Neighborly Confidence Basis Of All Stability And Progress, College Executive Believes

By ABBOTT L. LOWELL

President of Harvard University (Abbott Lawrence Lowell was born in Boston, Mass., Dec. 13, 1856. He is a graduate of Harvard university, and has received numerous honorary degrees. He practiced law in Boston from 1880 to 1897, and in 1900 became professor of science of government at Harvard. In May, 1909, Lowell became president of Harvard university. Some of his publications are "Transfer of Stock in Corporations," "Essays on Government," "Governments and Parties in Continental Europe," "Colonial Civil Service," "The Government of England," "Public Opinion and Popular Government" and "Public Opinion in War and Peace.")

It may not be useless to point out that the series of events that has occurred during your lives is not unprecedented. War, followed by material prosperity, a crash for sudden wealth, overdone and leading to distress, has happened more than once.

Let us consider the first step, that a great war is followed by a desire for material prosperity. Two hundred years ago the wars of Marlborough were followed by wild speculation in both England and France. This was the time of the South Sea Bubble in London and Law's Mississippi company in Paris. Fabulous fortunes were made, and then came the crash spreading ruin and suffering on both sides of the Channel. A century later it was so again after the wars of Napoleon.

One reason for this is obvious. War causes so much waste and destruction that in a country not ruined by the scourge, there is much to be replaced, employment is abundant and fortunes can be made.

Let us not blame others, but let young men prepare themselves; for such conditions are not caused by sun-spots or changes in climate, nor chiefly by droughts and floods. They flow from human conduct, and hence are under human control. They arise mainly from lack of foresight, which is based upon an attitude of mind that can be cultivated, and therefore contains a moral element.

Certainly so far as emotion enters into the matter, be it elation or despondency, rashness or timidity, it is not beyond the restraining power of man.

In a sudden panic, such as Anton Pavlovitch Chekhov now is considered the greatest Russian dramatist, his works being more popular abroad than even at the time of his death a quarter of a century ago.

Chephren, a king of Egypt, was the builder of the pyramid near Ghizeh, second in size of the great pyramids.

Jules Cheret, French lithographer and mural painter, was the first to convert poster designing into a real art, opening up an entirely new field with his posters in color.

A Bitter Protest. Against Knowing Too Much. Against Superfluity.

I don't know how many men have flown the Atlantic.

I don't know who invented the safety pin.

I can't explain the Einstein theory.

I can't tell you all about the gold standard.

I don't know any home brew recipes.

Or how the rear end of an automobile is put together.

Or how a radio works.

Or what happens when you use a dial telephone.

I don't know the population of Terra del Fuego.

Or what's new about "modern music."

Or why an autogyro does what it does.

Or why the Roman empire crumbled away.

I can't remember the name of the lad who assassinated the archduke of Austro-Hungary in 1914.

Or when Beethoven was born.

Or why magnets attract iron filings.

Or how the scientists discovered the vitamins.

I can't tell you the difference between "contagious" or "infectious" (if there is any difference).

Nor what the pituitary gland does.

I can't work a slide rule.

I don't know anything about higher mathematics.

I'm muddled on proteins and carbohydrates.

And what's more, I don't care.

Why should I know everything? Or half of everything? Or even one-millionth of all that is to be known?

... Tell me that, explain that to me in words of one syllable. ... I can look it up, I can ask somebody who knows, I can find out somewhere.

Why should any of us load his poor brains with superfluous facts? Why should he be bullied or dared into doing the useless? Into knowing the unnecessary? Why should we bite off more than we can chew?

You don't know the answer. That's fine. Please, let me shake you by the hand. I'm proud to meet a man who dares to confess, in this knowing, opinionated, cock-sure generation, that he doesn't know something. ... I feel better at ready, my grouch is passing. I know we'll get along. It's wonderful to know a man who isn't well informed.

... Let's be friends in abysmal ignorance.

sometimes occurs at a fire in a theater or when a ship sinks at sea, it must be a horrible sensation to lose confidence in every one else and above all, to lose hold of oneself. At the time such panics happen they must seem like convulsions of nature where a man is powerless to stay their progress, but in fact they are made by man and can be prevented or stopped by him.

All social life, all stability and progress, depend upon each man's confidence in his neighbor, a reliance upon him to do his duty. All mercantile credit is based upon mutual confidence, and without credit and the transactions made possible thereby the world could not sustain its present population.

You girls are jolly good pals and all that, well enough to have fun with—but when the boys want to take a girl out—when they want to be envied of their fellows, they take her.

The fact that she is "mushy," as you graphically describe her, may account for her popularity with a few, but it would not explain why she attracts them all and holds them. It's a gift, girls. One is born with it. "Some—the few—have charm for all," Barrie puts it.

All you can do is to be yourselves, jolly and friendly, and as all the boys can't go with her, some doubtless will wait for dates.

This is only my guess, of course, but it is made from your description of the girl. If I am wrong, time will tell. For her extreme popularity will fade and you will have your turn.

"THE DETERMINED THREE"

I'm awfully afraid that I can't give you the recipe, dear. Your girl friend has CHARM—that mysterious attribute that no one can quite describe but all recognize when they see it.

Buttered Peas

Vegetable Meat Loaf

Scalloped Potatoes

Economical Chocolate Ice Cream

Coffee

A new touch to an old recipe is the vegetable soup used to season the meat loaf. It gives it a little different flavor and is attractive when the loaf is sliced and served.

Today's Recipes

Vegetable Meat Loaf—Two pounds ground beef, one can vegetable soup, one cup dried bread crumbs, two eggs, salt and pepper. Beat eggs, add canned vegetable soup (undiluted) and salt and pepper. Mix well with ground beef and bread crumbs. Shape into loaf and bake for two hours.

Economical Chocolate Ice Cream—Two squares unsweetened chocolate, cut in pieces; two cups cold milk, one and one-half tablespoons flour, two-thirds cup sugar, one-eighth teaspoon salt, two tablespoons butter, one teaspoon vanilla, one cup cream, whipped. Add chocolate to milk and heat in double boiler. When chocolate is melted, beat with rotary egg beater a minute, until smooth and blend. Combine flour, sugar and salt. Pour on a small amount of chocolate mixture, stirring well. Return to double boiler and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add butter and vanilla. This makes two cups of sauce. Put it in mechanical refrigerator and, when stiff, beat in one cup of cream, whipped. Freeze. The sauce may be made in double quantity and kept in refrigerator until needed. This chocolate ice cream remains stiff indefinitely, as it has sufficient butter. Ordinary cream may be used or top milk, that has stood for a day. It whips just as well as whipping cream.

Holder

Put a towel rack on the wall in your cupboard where you keep the pans. Slip all the covers on edge behind this. They are out of the way here and yet very convenient. This is especially helpful when you have little cupboard space.

Non-Stick Shortening

No one enjoys having shortening stick to the measuring cup. To avoid this, always break eggs into the measuring cup first, then transfer them to the beating dish. This method leaves a coating of egg white around the inner surface of the cup. Now measure your shortening and you will find that it leaves the cup with scarcely a trace remaining.

Prevention Of Disease

By LOGAN GLENDENING, M. D.

The condition of the skin which has come to be known as "athlete's foot," while apparently mild and harmless in most cases, may become a serious health menace.

Indeed, in many school gymnasiums its prevalence interferes with much of the school athletics. In one junior high school 50 per cent of the students were excluded from the swimming pool, locker rooms and shower baths on account of the severity of the disease on their persons.

The disease is due to a minute fungus, one of the so-called ringworm group. It burrows into the skin and sets up an inflammation which may be merely a mild desquamating itching affair or may break out repeatedly into blisters which easily become infected with pus organisms.

A far more potent cause of the spread of the disease is the fact that in an infected gymnasium or locker room nearly all the habits become carriers. They have the ringworm on the skin of their feet and everywhere they walk they leave some on the wet floors to be picked up by others.

Ninety-seven per cent of the students in a certain high school in the United States were found to be carriers.

Cure of the condition once established is by no means as simple as was once supposed. Many substances have been used to kill the ringworm and most of them work, but the tendency to chronicity and re-infection makes the treatment a tedious one.

Prevention is far more feasible. One simple method which should be enforced in all locker rooms and shower baths of country clubs, golf clubs and swimming pools, is to require the athletes to wear paper slippers while walking around or to and from their lockers and showers. These paper slippers are on the market in extremely inexpensive form.

Another even more effective method is to have a foot bath of 10 per cent solution of sodium thiosulphate. This solution should be in a large pail or tub. It should be placed just inside the door to the showers and all bathers should be required to dip their feet in the solution before and after bathing. Besides the immediate effect the solution gets splattered over the floor of the showers and locker room and keeps down the growth of ringworm. The solution should be changed daily.

By the use of this simple method one swimming pool cut down the incidence of athlete's foot to zero among the students.

Ask Secret Of Popularity

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: We have a very peculiar problem that we have been trying to solve.

"There is a certain girl in our community whom we thought a good friend. She is not any better looking than the rest of us girls, does not dress any better and does not have any better disposition or reputation.

"Now, Virginia, what we want to know is how to win back the boys' friendship. They seem to like us, but do not want to go with us. We are 'big mouthed' and believe in having lots of fun. This girl is 'mushy' that's the only difference we can find."

HATCHERY LADS WIN TWO FLEE FLAMES FROM WINDOW AS FIRE DESTROYS FARM HOME

Victors Score Run Eleventh To Take
Game 6 to 5

The champion Lang Chevrolet is slipping like the proverbial red hot ball in the bath tub. The Xenia Chick Hatchery team, the latest National League team to put the defending city holders down for the count Wednesday night.

Displaying greater staying qualities, the Hatchery came out on top by a score of 6 to 5 in an eleven inning thriller, winning out before a batter had been retired in the last half of the eleventh.

The Hatchery received some valuable assistance from "Bulldog" Smith, Lang third baseman, who the contest might still be in progress.

Haverstick off with a single in the last of the eleventh. Luttrell bounced to Smith and both runners were safe when "Bulldog" muffed the bounce. The two Hatchery players moved up to second and third on a passed ball, and Haverstick stroled home with the winning run when Smith allowed Briley's grounder to slip between his legs.

The Hatchery team outthit the champions, fourteen blows to ten, with Lloyd Downey pitching effectively for the winners. Lloyd was somewhat wild and walked three batters, but he struck out eight batters and only two of the Lang tallies were earned in an orthodox manner. Harry Williams, Lang hurler, was hit harder than usual and his support was not of the customary fine quality.

Langs tallied a gift run in the second inning after two were down. Fuller walked, reached second on a wild pitch, and scored when a pop fly from Patterson's bat fell safe back of third base with no effort made to catch the ball.

The Chevrolet scored twice in the fifth. Smith singled and Fuller walked, Patterson was retired on an infield fly, but Corr singled to left. The relay to the plate caught "Bulldog" on a close play. Williams elevated a pop fly between first and base, and the plate, and when Haverstick collided with Briley in attempting to make the catch, the ball dropped and two Lang runners scored.

Singles by Luttrell, Jones and Ernst, an error by Ruse and W. Cope's hit gave the Hatchery three runs in the fifth, squaring the count.

Langs unknotted the score in the sixth on four hits, and the Hatchery knotted it again in the seventh by grouping three hits.

Downey held the champs hitless in the last four innings, during which the only Lang batter to reach first was quickly extinguished by a double play in the first half of the eleventh.

Two Hatchery hits were wasted in the eighth, a double play engineered by Ruse quenched the Hatchery hopes in the ninth after Jones, first batter, had walked, and Jenkins' single after two were down was useless in the tenth.

Along came the last half of the eleventh and the Hatchery was presented with the winning run. The defeat dropped the Chevrolet to third place and they are now only half a game ahead of the fourth place Hatchery team.

The American League schedule calls for a game between the Home Cadets and Ex-Highs Thursday night.

Showing little appreciation for pitching services performed in the past by Harry "Atlas" Smith, the Paintersville Famous Autos pounded out a 9 to 7 victory over Coate's Barbers of the Xenia National League, in an exhibition softball contest on the Paintersville diamond Wednesday night.

Smith formerly pitched for Paintersville, but he was on the mound against his one-time teammates Wednesday evening.

In order to win, the Autos were required to overcome a six-run lead. The Barbers were ahead 7 to 1 in the early stages of the contest, but Pitcher Bone of Paintersville, settled down and blanked the Xenia team in the last five innings and his associates won out for him with a three-run rally in the last half of the eighth. Score by innings:

Paintersville 0 3 4 0 0 0 0 7
Coate's Barbers 0 1 1 2 1 3 3 9
Batteries: Barbers—Smith and Bottorff; Paintersville—Bone and Baynard.

The Idle Hour Club will meet Anderson's Abattoirs on the Mulberry St. diamond here Thursday night.

Score by innings:
Idle Hours 0 1 3 0 3 3 2 1—13
Eagles 0 0 1 0 1 1 0 0—3
Batteries: Idle Hours—Hargrave and Simpson; Eagles—George and B. Asher.

AGENCY IS SOLD
Sale of a newspaper agency owned during the last five years by George D. Geyer, proprietor of the Geyer Book Store, 32 S. Detroit St., was consummated this week. The agency is being split. The greater interest was purchased by John A. Wood, W. Main St. barber, and a share was also bought by LeRoy Wines, it was announced.

Fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed a house, and the greater part of its contents, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gravit and located eight miles south of Xenia on the Wilmington Pike at Middleton's Corner early Thursday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Gravit, who were sleeping in an upstairs room, were awakened at 2 a. m. by smoke which had filled the house. They and the entire first floor in flames and had to escape by tying themselves together to make a rope ladder by which they descended from a window.

Neighbors were attracted to the fire by the blaze and assisted in moving a small portion of the household goods. Edgar Gravit, brother of Carl Gravit, lives on an adjoining farm, and while removing furniture from a broken window in a upstairs room. All of Mr. and Mrs. Gravit's wearing apparel was destroyed by fire.

Use of the blaze has not been started. It is thought it might have started from the fire in the ten store early Wednesday evening.

The house, a one and one-half story bungalow, is on a farm owned by John Ellison of Clinton County. Mr. and Mrs. Gravit moved there from Dayton in the spring. It is not known if the property is covered by insurance but the household goods belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Gravit were partly covered.

Mr. and Mrs. Gravit are staying at the home of Mr. Gravit's mother, Mrs. Stella Gravit, Wilmington Pike.

begged the delegates to be content with submission of the question to state conventions minus any promise to amend the Volstead act. Hull was holed and headed but he battled on in what obviously had become a losing fight. How badly Hull was beaten he probably did not realize until his own state, Tennessee, repudiated his leadership and voted for repeal, 18 to 6.

"The majority report undertakes to make a part of the platform a pledge to repeal the eighteenth amendment," Hull said. "If that is adopted and made part of the platform only those who can subscribe to it can be classed as good Democrats. The question would be one's loyalty to that plank in the platform."

Senator Robert J. Bulkley, Ohio, had a few minutes. He got his cheers and retired.

"The next speaker for the majority plank is Governor Alfred E. Smith," announced the chairman. Red-faced and smiling, Smith stood behind Walsh, delegates glimpsed the "happy warrior." Not all but most of them got up. They yelled. They screamed. They cheered. They stood on their chairs. Smith's smile became wider. He fumbled his vest buttons and grinned some more. It was the loudest and heartiest demonstration of the convention so far. Smith liked it. But he waved the crowd to silence.

"The fact, said Smith, "that the senator (Cordell Hull, Tenn.) only found out in the last three days that there was sentiment in this country for repeal is just too bad. There is nothing the convention can do about it but extend sympathy."

"If there is anything in the world that people dislike it is those people who make out to be wet when they are among wets and dry when they are among dries."

"Hoover took that position." Smith laughed at the administration's use of the Wickersham commission report and the convention laughed with him.

"A week ago, Smith continued, "the Republican convention met in this hall; I promised myself to listen to it on the radio."

Mention of that famously mispronounced word set the convention off for another minor demonstration; Smith told them he couldn't listen to the Republicans beyond the speech of the temporary chairman.

To Hull's plea that a party should take no stand for or against submission of a constitutional issue, Smith recalled the income tax and direct election of senators, suggesting that Senator Hull had thought differently with respect to them.

To Governor Albert C. Ritchie, Maryland, were assigned the closing words for repeal. It was late; Ritchie started once to leave the platform during the long speech of W. C. Fitts whose anti-repeal logic antagonized the galleries into heckling. The Marylander stayed behind, but he knew the crowd was tired of talking. He threw away his speech, said it was late. He got cheers and applause but there was no parade in honor of Maryland's favorite son.

He reminded the convention that he had been for repeal twelve years ago. He stressed state's rights and taxation and temperance.

"If national prohibition were repealed and state control substituted," he said, "the federal revenues thus derived would give indefinite relief to the over taxed people."

Hawaii obtained two minutes to propose home rule for the islands. William G. McAdoo offered a minority report for a form of federal guarantee of bank deposits.

Governor William H. "Alfalfa" Bill Murray presented half a dozen planks and amendments, including immediate cash payments to veterans. All these matters were passed over until the afternoon session today.

Murray proposed aid for independent oil operators, repeal of farm and home mortgages. There were no anxious to hear them; it wanted the opportunity to vote. Then began the roll call. Alabama split 21 to 3 against outright repeal. Arizona was unanimous for the wets. Down the roll went in Haligan. There was dispute in Idaho. Delegates were polled from the speakers' stand and Idaho went wet. The big wet states plunked their mighty ballots for repeal. The bandwagon began to move. Late comers got on with coat tails flying and after twelve years of controversy a major political party had kicked prohibition out its convention window.

The strategy the anti-Roosevelt coalition to scatter their votes in the balloting widely and thus show lack of opposition vote as able. Their plan of campaign, it will be to hold on until trends develop for one figure and tonter upon him, hammering away while at the Roosevelt support.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

With the ancient is wisdom; and in length of days understanding.—Job, xii, 12.

SEEKING AID

The Senate rejected an amendment to the Democratic unemployment relief bill which provided for loans to enable Chicago to pay its teachers and other employees, although, we read, Senator Glenn warned it that such action would leave the city without policemen to cope with the rising spirit of riot and revolution that is about to come upon us there.

When a city like Chicago cannot finance and police itself, American municipal government is in a bad way. Appealing to Washington for succor is both a confession of incompetence for self-government and the discovery of a willingness to surrender a birthright for a handout.

As Calvin Coolidge once pointed out, a State that does not properly perform its functions as such must expect the Government in Washington to step in and perform them for it. Government must be sustained on orderly and workable lines. When Washington steps in at the door, a part of a State's freedom of action goes out of the window. The Federal Government took Capone off Chicago's hands and now Senator Glenn wants it to loan Chicago money, which probably never would be repaid, as such "loans" seldom are, to support a police force. The end of that trail is the destruction of local government.

Cities that complain of upstate, downstate or outstate dominance must show that they are able to stand on their own feet if they want to be listened to. The rapid growth of great cities in this country has produced problems in municipal government which have not yet been solved but which must be solved by the cities themselves if they are to preserve the right to govern themselves. Chicago reveals no greater ineptitude in this connection than several other cities that might be mentioned, whose officials are constantly appealing to others to do for them what they should do themselves. All of them are flitting with remote authorities that will exact their pound of flesh for the aid they extend.

As a young man, Benjamin Franklin worked out for himself the twelve following rules of daily conduct which he termed his daily dozen:

1. Temperance — Eat not to dullness.
2. Silence — Speak not but what may benefit others or yourself; avoid trifling conversation.
3. Order — Let all things have their places, let each part of your business have its time.
4. Resolution — Resolve to perform what you ought; perform without fail what you resolve.
5. Frugality — Make no expense but to do good to others or yourself; that is, waste nothing.
6. Industry — Lose no time; be always employed in something useful; cut off all unnecessary actions.
7. Sincerity — Use no harmful deceit; think innocently and justly and if you speak, speak accordingly.
8. Justice — Wrong none by doing injury or omitting the benefits that are your duty.
9. Moderation — Avoid extremes; forbear resenting injuries as much as you think you deserve.
10. Cleanliness — Tolerate no uncleanness of body, clothes or habitation.
11. Tranquility — Be not disturbed at trifles, nor at accidents common or unavoidable.
12. Humility — Imitate Jesus and Socrates.

THE FOURTH

The police have received their annual instructions to be on the lookout from now until after July 4th, for violators of the city ordinance governing the possession and discharge of fireworks. A decent regard for their own life and limb ought to be sufficient to induce people generally to make the police's task in this connection an easy one. The State fireworks law, tightened up in 1931, and the city ordinances have given this city an enviable record with respect to Fourth of July accidents. That record should be sustained and bettered.

The Glorious Fourth should not wear the sombre aspect of a blue-law Sunday. A little noise enlivens it and the display of fireworks under proper supervision adds to its spectacle. The thing to remember is that the Nation's birthday can be adequately celebrated, as other birthdays are, without the risk that marked and marred its celebration during many of the Nation's adolescent years.

ARTICLE FOR CITIZENSHIP DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

United States Commissioner of Education.

If the Great War established any one thing clearly it was that a whole nation goes to war with another nation or that groups of nations engage in battle with other groups of nations. Accordingly, while men and women of all social classes are required to support it, the leadership in conflict falls upon the educated classes. These men are required in the chemical warfare, in aircraft battles, and in the correlation of the various aspects of service. It is inconceivable, therefore, that our educated men should be entirely ignorant of the principles of war. In 1862 President Lincoln signed the first Morrill Act which brought into existence a new set of colleges. Each of these has been required to offer military education. At the present time good people are trying to have military training dropped from these colleges. It is more conceivable to think of the Army as using an entire college. It will use such a college not exactly as the Army has used them in the past, but, to take a land grant college for example, one may think of the chemical laboratories which have been modified in such a way that their work leads to the chemical warfare division at the same time that students learn the arts of peace. They give attention to the manufacture of various kinds of gases or the preparation of the defense against these gases. It is true that there will be much less emphasis put upon drill as such for in general in trench warfare there is little opportunity to drill and very little emphasis needs to be given to marching. In a similar way the physics department will emphasize artillery and explosives. These are as essential in peace time as they are in war. Science instruction in our colleges is not yet a hundred years old. Nevertheless, it now has a splendid position in practically every college.

Just as the older form of college gives way to a newer type which gives a place to science, so must these new divisions emphasize the preparation required for a changed form of warfare. For it is only by having our educated men prepared for war that it can be avoided.

MY NEW YORK

By JAMES ASWELL

PARIS.—Ruminations of a rambler:

The man who designs new varieties of hors d'oeuvres for the tony restaurants.

The Turk in full Ottoman costume employed as coffee pouter in a Parisian Chinese restaurant.

The inspector who knows more about the sewers of Paris than about its boulevards.

The information clerk in the American Express, answering queries about where the best permanent waves are to be had, about what time it is in Moscow at the moment, and about the best remedy for a champagne hangover.

The elderly ladies who preside over men's retiring rooms.

The kitchen employee who sees to it that sandwich bread isn't sliced too thick.

AS IT IS IN FRANCE

A refined French woman out for a stroll alone on the boulevards considers it her own fault if a masher annoys her. The theory is that if the proper attitude is taken, the proper thing is injected into the state, pests will be discouraged. Yet girls sitting around the Dome in Montparnasse often have been disillusioned in a curious way. Handsome young Frenchmen have gotten into conversation with them and ended by asking the girls to pay their checks and lend them 10 francs. The shock often makes the life hungry youngsters from America more discreet for weeks to come.

MAGNIF-I-CENT

A new high was achieved by me when I paid 50 cents for a week old copy of the New York American Sunday edition and walked off, leaving it on my café table.

The tilt of the cabaret remains "J'ai Deux Amours" after two years. It's a touching tune.

Just encountered an American who is staying a month longer in Europe than he'd planned living on profits from dollars bootlegged in Vienna. The normal rate of exchange is seven schillings to the dollar, while business men forbidden to import dollars are willing to pay eight and nine schillings for them.

FRENCH BARBERS

French barbers are so in love with Eau de Cologne that they'll douse you unexpectedly with the stuff so thoroughly that you leave a wake for days. They are masters of the true custom-built haircut, being willing to do your locks in being willing to do your work in scallop designs if you give the word. They have just discovered the violet ray and sun ray machines and if you will stand for their treatment they'll play with the apparatus for the better part of an hour.

Paris still is the only city in the world (and this is written with Broadway in mind as a close second), where it's possible to walk down the street in a checkered suit, silk hat and purple shoes without precipitating a ripple in the Left Bank sector.

Some rare ensembles are to be glimpsed but a wave of conservatism has set in causing the gentlemen with long hair, who love art, to run for the shears, making the Surrealists and other fadists in esthetics to seek cover.

LOVE'S OLD SWEET SONG!

Neighborly Confidence Basis Of All Stability And Progress, College Executive Believes

By ABBOTT L. LOWELL

President of Harvard University (Abbott Lawrence Lowell was born in Boston, Mass., Dec. 13, 1856. He is a graduate of Harvard university, and has received numerous honorary degrees. He practiced law in Boston from 1880 to 1897, and in 1900 became professor of science of government at Harvard. In May, 1909, Lowell became president of Harvard university. Some of his publications are "Transfer of Stock in Corporations," "Essays on Government," "Governments and Parties in Continental Europe," "The Colonial Civil Service," "The Government of England," "Public Opinion and Popular Government" and "Public Opinion in War and Peace.")

It may not be useless to point out that the series of events that has occurred during your lives is unprecedented. War, followed by material prosperity, a crash of sudden wealth, overdone and leading to distress, has happened more than once.

Let us consider the first step, that a great war is followed by a desire for material prosperity. Two hundred years ago the wars of Marlborough were followed by wild speculation in both England and France. This was the time of the South Sea Bubble in London and Law's Mississippi company in Paris. Fabulous fortunes were made, and then came the crash spreading ruin and suffering on both sides of the Channel. A century later it was so again after the wars of Napoleon.

One reason for this is obvious. War causes so much waste and destruction that in a country not ruined by the scourge, there is much to be replaced, employment is abundant and fortunes can be made.

Let us not blame others, but let young men prepare themselves; for such conditions are not caused by sun-spots or changes in climate, nor chiefly by droughts and floods. They flow from human conduct, and hence are under human control. They arise mainly from lack of foresight, which is based upon an attitude of mind that can be cultivated, and therefore contains a moral element.

Certainly so far as emotion enters into the matter, be it elation or despondency, rashness or timidity, it is not beyond the restraining power of man.

In a sudden panic, such as Anton Pavlovitch Chekhov now is considered the greatest Russian dramatist, his works being more popular abroad than even at the time of his death a quarter of a century ago.

Chephren, a king of Egypt, was the builder of the pyramid near Ghizeh, second in size of the great pyramids.

Jules Cheret, French lithographer and mural painter, was the first to convert poster designing into a real art, opening up an entirely new field with his posters in color.

ALL of US By MARSHALL MASLIN

A Bitter Protest. Against Knowing Too Much. Against Superfluity.

I don't know how many men have flown the Atlantic.

I don't know who invented the safety pin.

I can't explain the Einstein theory.

I can't tell you all about the gold standard.

I don't know any home brew recipes.

Or how the rear end of an automobile is put together.

Or how a radio works.

Or what happens when you use a dial telephone.

I don't know the population of Tierra del Fuego.

Or what's new about "modern music."

Or why an autogyro does what it does.

Nor whether environment is more important than heredity.

Nor what the pituitary gland does.

I can't work a slide rule.

I can't know anything about high-bred mathematics.

I'm muddled on proteins and carbohydrates.

And I don't know an electron from a potato bug.

And, what's more, I don't care. Why should I know everything? Or half of everything? Or even one-millionth of that that is to be known?

Tell me that, explain that to me in words of one syllable. . . . If I want to know something, I can look it up. I can find out somewhere.

Why should any of us load his poor brains with superfluous facts? Why should we be bullied or dared into doing the useless? Into knowing the unnecessary? Why should we bite off more than we can chew?

You don't know the answer. That's fine. Please, let me shake you by the hand. I'm proud to meet a man who dares to confess in this knowing, opinionated, cocksure generation that he doesn't know something. . . . I feel better already, my growth is passing. I know we'll get along. It's wonderful to know a man who isn't well informed. . . . Let's be friends in abysmal ignorance.

sometimes occurs at a fire in a theater or when a ship sinks at sea, it must be a horrible sensation to lose confidence in every one else and above all, to lose hold of oneself. At the time such panics happen they must seem like convulsions of nature where a man is powerless to stay their progress, but in fact they are made by man and can be prevented or stopped by him.

All mercantile credit is based upon mutual confidence, and without credit and the transactions made possible thereby the world could not sustain its present population.

The fact that she is "mushy," as you graphically describe her, may account for her popularity with a few, but it would not explain why she attracts them all and holds them. It's a gift, girls. One is born with it. "Some—the few—have charm for all." Barrie puts it.

All you can do is to be yourself, jolly and friendly, and as all the boys can't go with her, some doubtless will ask you for dates.

This is only my guess, of course, but it is made from your description of the girl. If I am wrong, time will tell. For her extreme popularity will fade and you will have your turn.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: Most of the girls that write to you ask advice about boys. This is about mother, sister and me.

"My sister is married, has one child and husband and lives with my family. My sister and I do not get along. For one reason she is jealous for no cause. And she tries to tell mother what to let me do and what not. Anyway, my mother listens to her, which makes mother and I quarrel. I sometimes believe my mother sees a pleasure out of hearing my dad growl at me.

"Now, Virginia, what we want to know is how to win back the boys' friendship. They seem to like us, but do not want to go with us. We are 'big mouthed' and believe in having lots of fun. This girl is 'mushy'; that's the only difference we can find.

"THE DETERMINED THREE"

I'm awfully afraid that I can't give you the recipe, dear. Your girl friend has CHARM—that mysterious attribute that no one can quite describe but all recognize when they see it.

You girls are jolly good pals and all that, but when the boys want to take a girl out—when they want to be envied of their fellows, they take her.

The fact that she is "mushy," as you graphically describe her, may account for her popularity with a few, but it would not explain why she attracts them all and holds them. It's a gift, girls. One is born with it. "Some—the few—have charm for all." Barrie puts it.

All you can do is to be yourself, jolly and friendly, and as all the boys can't go with her, some doubtless will ask you for dates.

This is only my guess, of course, but it is made from your description of the girl. If I am wrong, time will tell. For her extreme popularity will fade and you will have your turn.

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: Most of the girls that write to you ask advice about boys. This is about mother, sister and me.

"My sister is married, has one child and husband and lives with my family. My sister and I do not get along. For one reason she is jealous for no cause. And she tries to tell mother what to let me do and what not. Anyway, my mother listens to her, which makes mother and I quarrel. I sometimes believe my mother sees a pleasure out of hearing my dad growl at me.

"Now, Virginia, what we want to know is how to win back the boys' friendship. They seem to like us, but do not want to go with us. We are 'big mouthed' and believe in having lots of fun. This girl is 'mushy'; that's the only difference we can find.

Prevention Of Disease

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

The condition of the skin which has come to be known as "athlete's foot," while apparently mild and harmless in most cases, may become a serious health menace. Indeed, in many school gymnasiums its prevalence interferes with much of the school athletics. In one junior high school 50 per cent of the students were excluded from the swimming pool, locker rooms and shower baths on account of the severity of the disease on their persons.

The disease is due to a minute fungus, one of the so-called ringworm group. It burrows into the skin and sets up an inflammation which may be merely a mild desquamation itching affair or may break out repeatedly into blisters which easily become infected with pus organisms.

A far more potent cause of the spread of the disease is the fact that in an infected gymnasium or locker room nearly all the habitation become carriers. They have the ringworm on the skin of their feet and everywhere they walk they leave some on the wet floors to be picked up by others.

Cure of the condition once established is by no means as simple as was once supposed. Many substances have been used to kill the ringworm and most of them work, but the tendency to chronicity and re-infection makes the treatment a tedious one.

Prevention is far more feasible. One simple method which should be enforced in all locker rooms and shower baths of country clubs, golf clubs and swimming pools, is to require the athletes to wear paper slippers while walking around or to and from their lockers and showers. These paper slippers are on the market in extremely inexpensive form.

Another even more effective method is to have a foot bath of 10 per cent solution of sodium thiosulphate. This solution should be in a large pail or tub. It should be placed just inside the door to the showers and all bathers should be required to dip their feet in the solution before and after bathing. Besides the immediate effect, the solution gets splattered over the floor of the showers and locker room and keeps down the growth of ringworm. The solution should be changed daily.

By the use of this simple method one swimming pool cut down the incidence of athlete's foot to zero among the students.

Ask Secret Of Popularity

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: We have a very peculiar problem that we have been trying to solve.

"There is a certain girl in our community whom we thought a good friend. She is not any better looking than the rest of us girls, does not dress any better and does not have any better disposition or reputation.

"Now, Virginia, what we want to know is how to win back the boys' friendship. They seem to like us, but do not want to go with us. We are 'big mouthed' and believe in having lots of fun. This girl is 'mushy'; that's the only difference we can find.

SPORT SNAP SHOTS

Eugene Confer, who guards the keystone bag for Central High's softball team, can give most of the other second basemen pointers on the art of fielding his position. Eugene's record show, has been charged with only one defensive miscue in nine American League games this season. He is sure on ground balls, makes catches of difficult fly balls look easy and is the only second baseman in either local league who appears able to cover first base in time to make the putout on grounders hit to the first baseman.

Eugene had a field day against the Ex-Highs Tuesday night, accepting eleven chances without an error. He had eight assists and three putouts and put in a busy evening.

Emanuel Good, our Osborn prophet, is the authority for the major league baseball comment that follows:

"As I hinted on the tenth of this month, the Cincinnati Reds have dropped at least five more contests by one run during June, which makes ten games lost by the margin mentioned above.

"The Boston Braves have let down a trifle, but I have no fear that they will follow the example of the Reds. The Braves have the best pitching staff in the National League, although most everybody will say Hornsby's Chicago Cubs have the best twirlers. If the Cubs are still up there a month from now, I'll know that the Chicago club has the class."

Emanuel adds that his Osborn Yankees have won three softball games and lost four, have scored 103 runs to sixty-seven for opponents and in last Sunday's contest they beat the Byron Specials, 35 to 7.

"In seven games the Yankees have hit twenty-two home runs, living up to their nickname in fine style," Good concludes.

If Wes Ferrell of the Cleveland Indians reaches the goal he has set for this season, he will turn in a pitching record that few hurlers, even of more experience, can boast. Wes has won more than twenty games in each of his two major seasons and plans to account for at least that many more this year. Ferrell pitched twenty-one victories in 1930 and twenty-five last season. He has already twirled thirteen victories this year.

The grounds equipped with modern lighting apparatus and new bathing houses, Sycamore Pool, a natural pool, has been opened for swimmers by Dr. R. L. Haines, Jamestown, coroner of Greene County. Roy Roberts is in charge of the pool, which is located one and one-half miles west of the Jamestown Pike, on the Roberts and Haines land.

PAINTERSVILLE IN WIN OVER BARBERS

Showing little appreciation for pitching services performed in the past by Harry "Atlas" Smith, the Paintersville Famous Autos pounded out a 9 to 7 victory over Coats's Barbers of the Xenia National League, in an exhibition softball contest on the Paintersville diamond Wednesday night.

Smith formerly pitched for Paintersville, but he was on the mound against his one-time teammates Wednesday evening.

In order to win, the Autos were required to overcome a six-run lead. The Barbers were ahead 7 to 1, in the early stages of the contest, but Pitcher Bone of Paintersville, settled down and blanked the Xenia team in the last five innings and his associates won out for him with a three-run rally in the last half of the eighth. Score by innings:

Coats's Barbers 0 0 3 4 0 0 0 0 7
Paintersville 1 0 0 1 2 1 3 x 9

IDLE HOUR DEFEATS WILMINGTON TEAM

Forecasting their intentions when Williamson, third baseman, knocked a home run with two runners aboard in the fourth, the Idle Hour Club softballers pounded out a 13 to 3 triumph over the Eagles team at Wilmington Wednesday night.

Hargrave limited the Eagles to seven hits, and the Idle Hours gathered eleven off George, Wilmington hurler. Shoecraft got three of the Xenia team's hits.

The Idle Hour Club will meet Anderson's Abattoirs on the Mulberry St. diamond here Thursday night.

Score by innings:

Eagles 0 0 0 1 0 1 0 0—3
Batteries: Idle Hours—Hargrave and Simpson; Eagles—George and A. Asher.

AGENCY IS SOLD

Sale of a newspaper agency owned during the last five years by George D. Geyer, proprietor of the Geyer book store, 32 S. Detroit St., was consummated this week. The agency is being split. The greater interest was purchased by John A. Wood, W. Main St., barber, and a share was also bought by LeRoy Wones, it was announced.

Champion Langs Slipping; Drop Another

HATCHERY LADS WIN OVERTIME CONTEST WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Victors Score Run In Eleventh To Take
Game 6 to 5

The champion Lang Chevrolet is slipping like the proverbial rubber heel in the bath tub.

The Xenia Chick Hatchery became the latest National League team to put the defending city into the hole for the count Wednesday night.

Displaying greater staying qualities, the Hatchery came out on top by a score of 6 to 5 in an eleven-inning thriller, winning out before a batter had been retired in the last half of the eleventh.

The Hatchery received some valuable assistance from "Bulldog" Smith, Lang third baseman, else the contest might still be in progress.

Haverstick off with a single in the last of the eleventh. Luttrell bounced to Smith and both runners were safe when "Bulldog" muffed the bounce. The two Hatchery players moved up to second and third on a passed ball, and Haverstick stroled home while winning run when Smith allowed Briley's grounder to slip between his legs.

The Hatchery team outlit the champions, fourteen blows to ten, with Lloyd Downey pitching effectively for the winners. Lloyd was somewhat wild and walked three batters, but he struck out eight batters and only two of the Lang tailies were earned in an orthodox manner. Harry Williams, Lang hurler, was hit harder than usual and his support was not of the customary fine quality.

Langs tallied a gift run in the second inning after two were down. Fuller walked, reached second on a wild pitch and scored when a pop fly from Patterson's bat fell safe back of third base with no effort made to catch the ball.

The Chevrolet scored twice in the fifth. Smith singled and Fuller walked, Patterson was retired on an infield fly, but Corr singled to left. The relay to the plate caught "Bulldog" on a close play. Williams elevated a pop fly between first base and the plate, and when Haverstick collided with Briley in attempting to make the catch, the ball dropped, and two Lang runners scored.

Singles by Luttrell, Jones and Ernst, an error by Ruse and W. Cope's hit gave the Hatchery three runs in the fifth, squaring the count.

Langs unknotted the score in the sixth on four hits, and the Hatchery knotted it again in the seventh by grouping three hits.

Downey held the champs hitless in the last four innings, during which the only Lang batter to reach first was quickly extinguished by a double play in the first half of the eleventh.

Two Hatchery hits were wasted in the eighth, a double play engineered by Ruse quenched the Hatchery hopes in the ninth after Jones, first batter, had walked, and Jenkins' single after two were down was useless in the tenth.

Along came the last half of the eleventh and the Hatchery was presented with the winning run. The defeat dropped the Chevrolet to third place and they are now only half a game ahead of the fourth place Hatchery team.

The American League schedule calls for a game between the Home Cadets and Ex-Highs Thursday night.

SARAZEN RETAINS BUSINESS MANAGER

NEW YORK, June 30—Gene Sarazen, winner of the British and United States open golf championships, has signed a contract with Ray McCarthy, sports promoter, guaranteed to net Sarazen at least $250,000 in the next two years—excluding over Babe Ruth's salary. Sarazen said he desires to concentrate on his game, so he agreed to have McCarthy take over the management of his business affairs, including the many offers he is getting. McCarthy managed him when he won the national title ten years ago.

TWO FLEE FLAMES FROM WINDOW AS FIRE DESTROYS FARM HOME

Fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed a house, and the greater part of its contents, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gravitt and located eight miles south of Xenia on the Wilmington Pike at Middleton's Corner early Thursday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Gravitt, who were sleeping in an upstairs room, were awakened at 2 a. m. by smoke which had filled the house. They found the entire first floor in flames and had to escape by tying sheets together to make a rope ladder by which they descended from a window.

Neighbors were attracted to the scene by the blaze and assisted in removing a small portion of the household goods. Edgar Gravitt, 20, brother of Carl Gravitt, who lives on an adjoining farm, received painful cuts on his left hand while removing furniture through a broken window in a downstairs room. All of Mr. and Mrs. Gravitt's wearing apparel was destroyed by fire.

Cause of the blaze has not been determined. It is thought it might have started from the fire in the kitchen as there was a fire in the kitchen stove early Wednesday evening.

ROOSEVELT GROUP IS PLANNING STRATEGY AS SESSION RESUMES

Brandon of Alabama, chairman of his delegation, does not forget his cue. Brandon is the man who for 103 ballots is the Madison Square Garden in 1924, opened every roll-call by shouting "twenty-four votes for Underwood."

This Roosevelt stroke revealed the intense activity on the part of the Roosevelt group here.

Roosevelt goes against the field of "favorite son" candidates with commanding support, still well-knit, that appears to make him a good bet for nomination on an early ballot.

James A. Farley, Roosevelt manager, claimed Roosevelt would have 704 votes when the balloting begins. Able political strategists are enlisted among the ranks of anti-Roosevelt forces which include Alfred E. Smith; but Smith played a lone hand for several days, and now that the issue is at hand, still is not ready to say just how the job is to be done.

The house, a one and one-half story bungalow, is on a farm owned by John Ellison of Clinton County. Mr. and Mrs. Gravitt moved there from Dayton in the spring. It is not known if the property is covered by insurance but the household goods belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Gravitt were partly covered.

Mr. and Mrs. Gravitt are staying at the home of Mr. Gravitt's mother, Mrs. Stella Gravitt, Wilmington Pike.

ONLY THREE STATES OPPOSE WHEN PARTY PLEGGED TO REPEAL

begged the delegates to be content with submission of the question to state conventions minus any promise to amend the Volstead act. Hull was booed and heckled but he held out what obviously had become a losing fight. How badly Hull was beaten he probably did not realize until his own state, Tennessee, repudiated his leadership and voted for repeal, 18 to 6.

"The majority report undertakes to make a part of the platform a pledge to repeal the eighteenth amendment," Hull said. "If that is adopted and made part of the platform only those who can subscribe to it can be classed as good Democrats. The question would be one of loyalty to that plank in the platform."

Senator Robert J. Bulkley, Ohio, had a few minutes. He got his cheers and retired.

"The next speaker," the majority plan to Governor Alfred E. Smith," announced the chairman.

Red-faced and smiling, Smith stood behind Walsh, delegates glimpsed the "happy warrior." Not all but most of them got up. They yelled. They screamed. They marched. They stood on their chairs. Smith's smile became wider. He fumbled his vest buttons and grinned some more. It was the loudest and heartiest demonstration of the convention so far.

But he waved the crowd to silence.

"The fact, said Smith, "that the senator (Cordell Hull, Tenn.) only found out in the last three days that there was sentiment in this country for repeal is just too bad. There is nothing the convention can do about it but extend sympathy."

"If there is anything in the world that people dislike it is those people who make out to be wet when they are among wets and dry when they are among dries."

"Hoover took that position." Smith laughed at the administration's use of the Wickham commission report and the convention laughed with him.

"A week ago, Smith continued, "the Republicans convened a meeting in this hall; I promised myself to listen to it on the radio."

Mention of that famously mispronounced word set the convention off for another minor demonstration; Smith told them he couldn't listen to the Republicans beyond the speech of the temporary chairman.

To Hull's plea that a party should take no stand for or against submission of a constitutional issue, Smith recalled the income tax and direct election of senators, suggesting that Senator Hull had thought differently with respect to them.

To Governor Albert C. Ritchie, Maryland, were assigned the closing words for repeal. It was late; Ritchie started once to leave the platform during the long speech of W. C. Pitts whose anti-repeal logic antagonized the galleries into heckling. The Marylander stayed but he knew the crowd was tired of talking. He threw away his speech, said it was late. He got cheers and applause but there was no parade in honor of Maryland's favorite son.

He reminded the convention that he had been for repeal twelve years ago. He stressed state's rights and taxation and temperance.

"If national prohibition were repealed and state control substituted," he said, "the federal revenues thus derived would give indefinite relief to the over taxed people."

Hawaii obtained two minutes to propose home rule for the islands. William G. McAdoo offered a minority report for a form of federal guarantee of bank deposits.

Governor William H. "Alfalfa" Bill Murray presented half a dozen planks and amendments, including immediate cash payments to veterans. All these matters were passed over until the afternoon session today.

Murray proposed aid for independent oil operators, remonetization of silver and a moratorium on farm and home mortgages.

There were other speakers. The crowd was not anxious to hear them; it wanted the opportunity to vote. Then began the roll call. Alabama split 21 to 3 against outright repeal. Arizona was unanimous for the wets. Down the roll went Haltigan. There was dispute in Idaho. Delegates were polled from the speakers' stand and Idaho went wet. The big wet states plunked their mighty ballots to move. Late bandwagoners began to coast. Late comers got on with coat tails flying and after twelve years of controversy a major political party had kicked prohibition out its convention window.

TO DETOUR TRAFFIC DURING TREATMENT FOR COLUMBUS PIKE

New surface will be given 9.14 miles of federal route 42 between Xenia and the Clark County line, a project for which a contract was awarded by the state highway department recently to L. Cossett, Findlay, O. contractor, on his bid of $17,544.

Traffic will be detoured when necessary over the portions of the highway receiving surface treatment, and during the actual resurfacing work, a watchman will be provided to direct traffic.

The improvement will be sixteen feet wide and is scheduled for completion September 1.

Because of the short time required in making the improvement, motorists are advised that the closed sections of the pike may not appear on the weekly detour bulletin issued by the state department.

Motorists are urged to reduce speed over the newly treated sections of the highway, when the project is finished, until the surface becomes "dry."

DR. GALLOWAY IS HONORED IN VIENNA

Dr. Charles Galloway, Evanston, Ill., former Xenian, who is spending a year in special study in Vienna, Austria, has been elected president of the American Medical Association there according to word received by relatives here. The association is composed of American doctors who are in Vienna.

Dr. Galloway lives in Hubbard Woods, Ill., but practices in Evanston and is associated with the Evanston Hospital, specializing in obstetrics. He and his family went to Austria March 1 and expect to spend a year there. Dr. Galloway is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Galloway, N. Galloway St.

BAR ASSOCIATION TO DINE THURSDAY

First anniversary dinner of the Four-County Bar Association, embracing Greene, Clinton, Warren and Highland Counties, will be held at 6 o'clock Thursday night at the General Hotel in Wilmington. A group of attorneys and public officials from Greene County is expected to attend.

The bar organization, formed a year ago with the first meeting at Wilmington, holds quarterly dinners in the county seats of the four counties.

Brown and White

This fetching summer ensemble is in the popular brown and white color scheme. It is trimmed with white pique. The posy also is white pique, also the jaunty little hat. Grace Brinkley, actress, the wearer, also boasts one of the smart new monogram bracelets on her right wrist.

RECEIVE NEW BIDS ON WATER SOFTENER

Bids on resubmission of the specifications bid of last May 28 for installation of hot process water softening equipment in the power house at the O. S. and S. O. Home will be received until 10 a. m. July 9 at the Columbus office of T. S. Brindle, state director of public works.

Owing to a legal technicality, all previous bids were rejected a month ago and decision to readvertise for bids was reached by the board of trustees.

State funds amounting to $9,000 were released to finance purchase and installation of the new equipment, which is expected to save the institution here about $5,000 annually.

Compare the freshness

THE minute you open a package of Kellogg's, you can tell that here are really fresh corn flakes. That delicious aroma is unmistakable.

And just compare the flavor and crispness. Did you ever taste any corn flakes so good?

Kellogg's always reach you oven-fresh and flavor-perfect. The flakes are protected by an inside WAXTITE bag which is sealed. A patented Kellogg feature.

Unconditionally guaranteed by W. K. Kellogg: "If you don't think Kellogg's the finest corn flakes you ever ate, return the empty red-and-green package and we will refund your money." Insist on genuine Kellogg's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Substitutes are seldom offered in a spirit of service.

XENIA DETACHMENT OF TROOPS DIVIDED IN STRIKE SERVICE

Leaving the Xenia detachment in charge of Lieut. F. R. Woodruff, principal of Central High School, Capt. Harold L. Hays, commander of Company L, 147th Infantry, Ohio National Guard, has returned from the Nelsonville, O., mine strike area to the O. S. and S. O. Home to resume his duties there as superintendent.

The force of twenty-six enlisted men and one commissioned officer from the Xenia company, which will be stationed in the coal region indefinitely, has been inactive except for routine patrol duty, according to Capt. Hays.

Lieut. Woodruff took fourteen of the Xenia guardsmen to the Black Diamond mine, twenty-eight miles from Nelsonville, last Tuesday morning to relieve another company of militia. The other twelve men, in charge of Sgt. John Balder, remained in Nelsonville.

While in Nelsonville, the Xenia detachment is quartered in a shoe factory building and the guardsmen, although eager for a little excitement, are enjoying their duties in the strike region, according to the commander.

Capt. Hays said he was uninformed as to the probable length of stay of the Xenia troops in the Athens County area.

LECTURING THE FOX TERRIER Wire-haired terrier, listen to me! Don't worry the birds in the maple tree hough strong and swift on your feet you are You can never compete with a motor car
So stop this chasing them down the street
Or a terrible end you are sure to meet.

Tuffy, you smart little wire-haired fox,
You mustn't go roaming for blocks and blocks;
Stay close to the house when we let you out.
Here is plenty of room you can romp about;
And you mustn't expect all the guests who call
To spend their time with you playing ball.

Tuffy, the neighbors you mustn't annoy,
And you mustn't bark at the grocer's boy;
When at the table I take my seat,
Don't stand there and beg for a bit of meat.
For I've read all the books, and the experts say
That a well-trained dog shouldn't act that way.

But Tuffy looks back with his beady eyes
And seems to answer: "You may be wise,
You may know much that a man should do;
But the thoughts of a dog aren't known to you,
And a wire-haired terrier, young and glad,

"FATTY" ARBUCKLE TAKES BRIDE

Finding the Ohio marriage laws too exacting, Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle, film comedian of the custard pie days, eloped to Erie, Pa., with Addie McPhail and then returned to Cleveland where both have been appearing in vaudeville. It is Arbuckle's third marriage. Above, the bride and bridegroom following the ceremony.

MORE TO RADIO THAN STARS!

Xenian Employed By NBC In New York Still Enjoys Attending Broadcasts, However

By MILDRED MASON
WHEN you listen to a program on the radio did you ever realize how many persons contribute to the success of that program, other than the stars themselves?

The duties of a few of these persons, of whom the radio audience knows little, may be learned from Mrs. Agnes Shough, formerly of this city, who is employed in the studios of the National Broadcasting Co. in New York, and is spending two weeks here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Hornick, E. Third St.

Mrs. Shough is connected with the statistical department of the NBC studios as program analyst. It is her duty each day to analyze all programs that have gone on the air the previous day over both NBC chains, that is, the "red" network, or station WEA and affiliated stations and the "blue" network, or station WJZ and its stations.

Each day she receives two large "master copies" of the previous day's programs, one for each network, made from a complete stenographic report. She then checks through these copies, which contain every thing that took place on a program from every word of the announcer to every number on a program.

If a program has been of a musical nature it is classified in one of four types of music—classical, semi-classical, light or dance music. Or, the program may be classified as educational, literary or in a number of various classifications. Then also, the programs are analyzed as to women's programs, children's programs or such and statistics are compiled according to that data.

Programs, such as the Republican and Democratic national conventions, news flashes as were broadcast at the time of the kidnapping of the Lindbergh baby or similar events of national importance are analyzed as programs of "service to the public."

The opinion that the greater part of musical programs broadcast is made up of popular or dance music is changing for, according to Mrs. Shough, the percentage of classical music broadcast is rapidly increasing. According to the analysis, about 25 per cent of the programs are of an educational nature, she also pointed out.

After the programs are analyzed they are sent to another part of the statistical bureau where the figures are computed for daily, monthly and annual reports.

Mrs. Shough has an assistant who keeps a record of "microphone appearances." She checks the number of persons appearing on a program and their names. Special attention is given this data concerning government officials or persons of public affairs and to the number of their appearances on the air.

Persons attending broadcasts in the NBC studios at 711 Fifth Ave., sit in the same room where the program is broadcast while at the NBC Times Square studio a heavy glass curtain separates the audience from those taking part in it. To attend a broadcast is the same as to attend the theater, Mrs. Shough explains. Everything is carried on with as much precision or, possibly more, than at a theater. The announcer, the star of the program and the orchestra director all wear formal evening clothes for the program. And as a personal note, Mrs. Shough added, Jessica Dragonette, diminutive soprano, always appears in a white evening dress.

Of course, besides the stars themselves and those who take part in the programs, there are the engineers, mechanics, aside from the program department, the publicity department, statistical department, whose members all play an important part in each program and whose services one can scarcely realize unless one would visit a broadcasting studio, Mrs. Shough points out.

Good Gardening

MOLES IN THE GARDEN
By DEAN HALLIDAY
Garden Expert for Central Press and The Gazette.

"I'M NEARLY desperate," said my neighbor. "Please tell me how to get rid of moles in the garden and lawn."

"I don't blame you for being agitated," I replied, "for this is a perennial plea, since moles seem to be always with us."

The best way to get rid of moles is by the use of chemicals. One chemical that may be used is carbide of calcium, which comes in lump form. A lump may be placed in the mole's burrow near the end where the animal is working. Upon contact with the moist soil, a gas is given off by the carbide which will kill the mole.

Carbon bisulphide can also be used to kill moles underground. This liquid is inflammable and should be used with care. Pour a little of the carbon bisulphide into the mole run. It will generate a gas which, being heavier than air, travels down the mole's tunnels, and suffocates the animal when he inhales it.

Rev. S. A. Amos, the former pastor of the First A. M. E. Church, Xenia, has been assigned to the pastorate of Bethel A. M. E. Church, Middletown, of which the late Rev. C. M. Hogans, was pastor.

Rev. Amos was one of the many graduates of Payne Theological Seminary, Wilberforce, this year. He has had considerable experience in pastorate. He formerly pastored in West Virginia before coming to this state to take advantage of Payne Seminary. At the time of the assignment to Bethel Church, Middletown, Rev. Amos was pastoring Ross Chapel, Jamestown, one of the smallest appointments of his career. He will leave in a few days for his new field of labor in Middletown.

American Legion Auxiliary will meet Thursday evening at 7:30 at the home of Mrs. Emma Robinson, E. Main St. City, sailed on a German liner Thursday for Europe. During his absence, Mrs. Gladys Reid will spend the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Scott at their country place Tarrymore Springs. Mrs. Reid will arrive Sunday accompanied by Mrs. James Andrews, who will be the guest of the Scotts over the Fourth.

ANNUAL COMMITTEE REPORTS ARE HEARD

DETROIT, June 30—Annual reports of the committees on agriculture and vocational guidance were heard today at the closing sessions of the sixteenth annual convention of Kiwanis.

In Ohio, V. C. Hosselman, of

Lima, chairman of vocational guidance, will assist in promoting these two objectives in the state. Clubs will sponsor grain and stock shows and fairs, continue 4-H boys' and girls' club work, and secure group meetings between town and country people, it was announced. Dr. John R. Wilkinson, of Alliance, said today that the annual convention for the Ohio district will be held in Cincinnati next October.

Plane That Spells Disaster From Both Air and Sea

Seen in flight near Paris, France, is the new bombing and torpedo airplane of the French Army air force. It is an amphibian, so constructed that its pontoons can easily be exchanged for wheels. It carries a torpedo weighing 1,430 pounds, released from just above the water.

Here Are Two Little "Lions" Sitting in a Row

Some practical joker, imbued with the punning possibilities of the name Lyon, presented little Barbara Bebe Lyon, daughter of Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon, screen players, with this little real lion for a playmate. And for awhile the lion cub will be just a cute pet—he's not yet old enough to know worse-orse.

Angels of the Depression

Declaring that "this depression has been hitting some folks pretty hard," these proprietors of a general store at Sloan, Iowa, Mr. and Mrs. James Hennum, recently sent notes to all their delinquent customers, canceling all outstanding debts. The wording of the note reads: "We take liberty in canceling your debt to us. We hope it will meet with your approval. After careful consideration we feel that a higher will is guiding. May God bless and prosper you." The Hennums declined to say just how much they lose by the general cancellation.

One of the outstanding beauties at Rice Institute at Houston, Tex., during the past college year was Margaret Louise Byrnes. This pretty co-ed is a resident of Houston.

Society Matron

Mrs. Earl T. Smith, formerly Consuelo Vanderbilt, young New York society hostess, was caught by the cameraman as she enjoyed a fair given for charity at the beautiful country estate of Mrs. Payne Whitney at Manhasset, L. I.

Defended by Son

Charged with poisoning her employer, a farmer of Wilmet, N. H., Mrs. Cora Reynolds, 71, of the same town, is awaiting trial for murder at Concord. She is shown with her son, Lyman Reynolds, an attorney, who will defend his mother against the murder charge. The aged woman was recently declared sane by alienists.

Screen Stars Take to Badminton

BAKERS LOATH TO LEAVE HOME

Whenever his presidential chances have been mentioned Newton D. Baker has expressed his reluctance to exchange his home, top, in a Cleveland suburb, for the White House. Below, recent photos of Mrs. Baker and her husband. Mrs. Baker has won recognition as an amateur gardener and both she and the former secretary of war spend many hours working in their extensive gardens.

Stars on the Sands

We don't know what Californians will say about this. It looks very much like a slap at their glorified climate. Kay Francis, famous movie actress, and her director husband, Kenneth McKenna, are shown strolling on the sands at Atlantic Beach, L. I., soon after their arrival from the coast. They were enroute to Europe, but a last-minute picture engagement called for a change in plans, so they'll vacation in America.

President Hoover has appointed Gardner Cowles (above), prominent newspaper publisher of Des Moines, to succeed General Charles G. Dawes as director of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Named for Governor

Leader of a political faction known as "The Rumpers," John E. Regan (above) has been nominated as the Democratic candidate for Governor of Minnesota. "The Rumpers" opposed the seating of a Roosevelt-instructed delegation to the Democratic National Convention, advocating one favorable to Alfred E. Smith.

Lamont's Daughter a Bride

The First Presbyterian Church of Englewood, N. J., was the scene of one of the most brilliant society weddings of the season, when Miss Eleanor Allen Lamont, daughter of Thomas Lamont, of New York, member of J. P. Morgan and Co., became the bride of Charles Crehore Cunningham, of Milton, Mass. Bishop Lawrence of Boston performed the ceremony. Here is the blushing bride in her wedding finery. The veil of antique lace is a family heirloom.

SWIM QUEENS STAGE "WALKOUT"

To Try Solo Atlantic Hop

Miss Elinor Smith, pretty young aviatrix of Freeport, N. Y., is pictured on a Long Island field with George Pickens, flying instructor, who is teaching her to fly an autogiro between tests for her proposed solo fight across the Atlantic in the wake of Amelia Earhart.

SENTENCE AUTOIST AFTER ONE INJURED IN AUTO COLLISION

Ralph W. Scott, Dayton, pleaded guilty in Municipal Court Thursday morning to a charge of operating an auto while intoxicated, sequel to an auto accident west of Fairfield Wednesday afternoon in which another occupant of his car was painfully injured.

Scott, whose car allegedly collided with that driven by C. E. Lawrence, 222 W. Third St., Dayton, was fined $100 and costs, sentenced to thirty days in jail and his driving privileges were suspended for six months by Judge E. Dawson Smith.

Jack Cook, 39, of 28 N. Trenton St., Dayton, passenger in Scott's machine, was removed to Miami Valley Hospital in Dayton, suffering from cuts on the face and head, left knee and right leg. Hospital attendants reported his condition was satisfactory Wednesday night.

The collision took place on the Springfield-Dayton Pike, route 4, near Huffman dam. Scott, driving toward Dayton, was unhurt. The driver of the other machine, employed at Patterson Field, also escaped injury, though his auto was damaged.

Scott was arrested by William A. Schneider, Bath Twp. constable, and turned over to the sheriff's office.

TRAVEL READING CLUB IS FORMED

A Travel Reading Club for children twelve years of age or under, is being organized at the Library this summer, according to Miss Katharine Shorey, librarian.

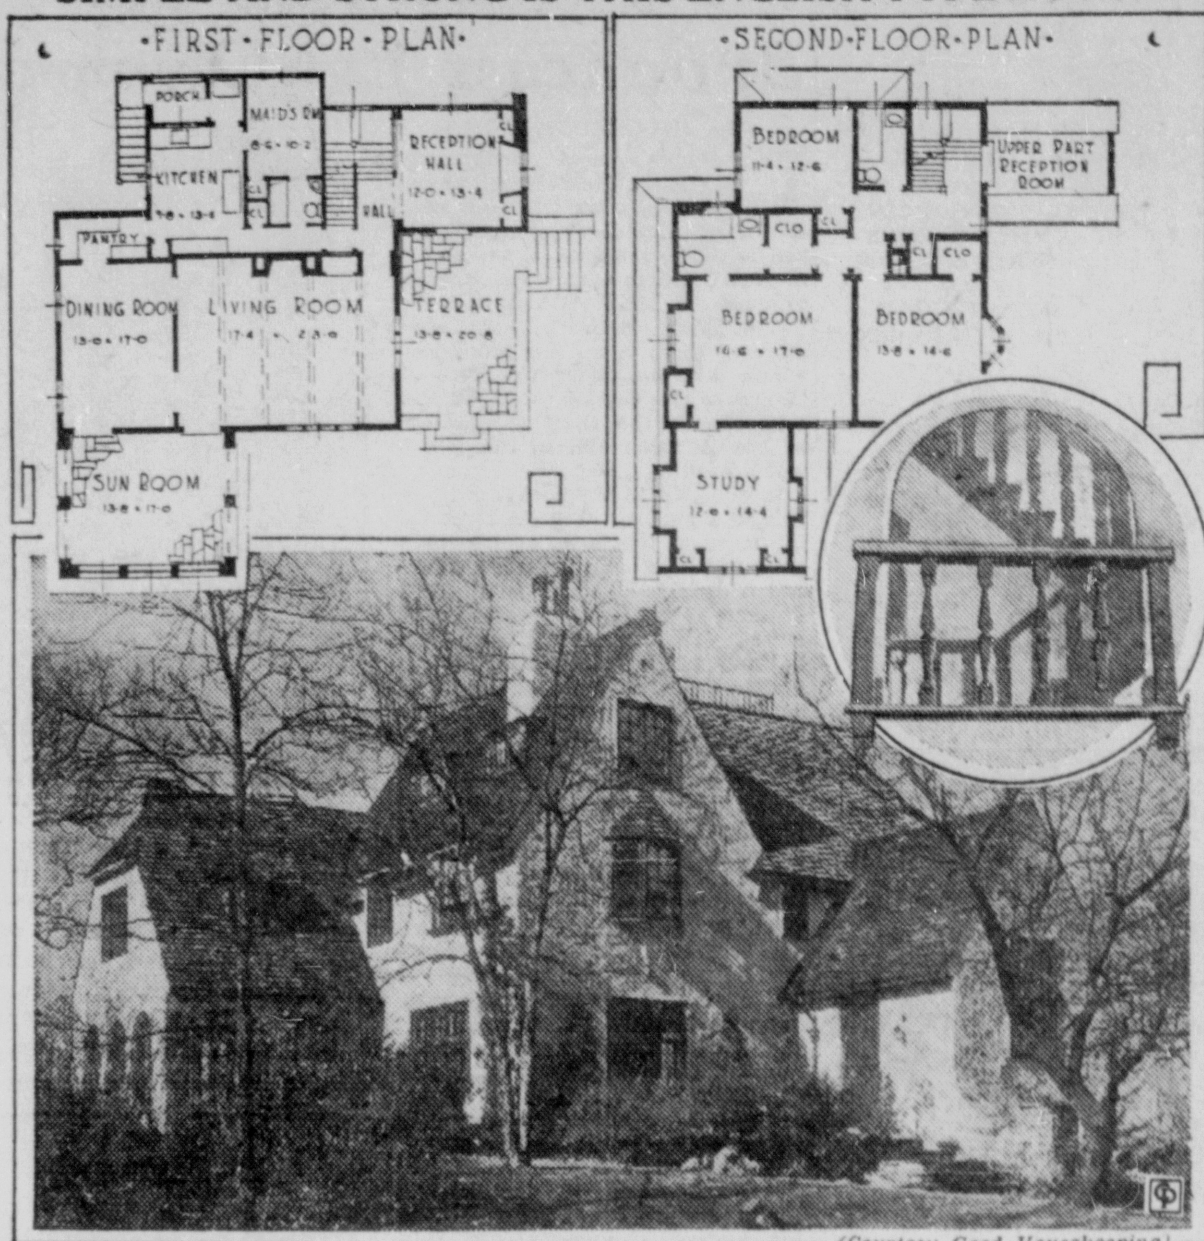

The club will open July 1 and will close September 1. Registration may be made at once. There are many books at the library about children of Mexico, Japan, Belgium, Africa and Alaska. There are also other books on airplane trips to the South and North Poles and numerous books concerning hikers, pirates and gold seekers. All of these books and many more will be included in the club and all children who read five such books will be considered charter members of the club. For each of these books a child reads, a red star will be placed beside his name after he has registered.

An airplane, made by Charles Kelble, W. Second St., which was entered in the Boy's Hobby Fair here in May, has been placed on display in the library and is the flagship of the travel club for this year.

RATES AS MARKSMAN

Second Lieut. Edward L. Routzong, Xenia, of the field artillery branch, qualified on the pistol range as a marksman during the first Officer's Reserve Corps camp at Fort Knox, Ky., which closed Wednesday. Bringing to an end their two weeks of field training, the 300 officers encamped during the period returned to their homes.

SIMPLE AND STRONG IS THIS ENGLISH TYPE HOUSE

The Cotswold cottage of the English Sheep Shires served as the inspiration for this stucco house, suited to an all-year location. It is simple and strong, with room for necessities, but none for eccentricities. Below is the exterior view of the house with an inset of an interesting detail of the interior. Above are the first and second floor plans. The house contains 40,000 cubic feet, and could be built for 50 cents a cubic foot, or $20,000. The foundation walls are natural stone laid in cement, the exterior walls stucco laid on frame. F. Albert Hunt and Edwin Kline are the architects. This plan is certified by the Good Housekeeping Studio of architecture and furnishings, Helen Koues, director,

Shop at Sohio Stations

AS YOU SHOP AT YOUR FAVORITE DEPARTMENT STORE

Things were very much doing when our resourceful artist snapped this scene. It does picture what we mean when we say you can "shop at Sohio Stations just as you do at department stores." Note the gasoline department. There you have a sweeping selection... from the finest money can buy, to the greatest of "bargain-basement" values. The same with the motor oil offerings. Tires? Certainly! Right here, please—the famous Atlas Tires, each with twelve-month guarantee and instant make-good, anywhere. Then—how are your headlights? Here are Mazda bulbs to brighten the night-ways. Now—just pull onto the lift if your car needs expert lubrication. And, of course, water and air are administered free in any quantity, by agile, courteous Sohio men. Likewise an accurate road map of Ohio and surroundings, 1932 edition, is yours for the asking. And so it goes... Thousands are becoming motorist-shoppers at Sohio Stations. You will find it as thrifty as it is convenient.

Films Dictate Styles Stars Reveal Wiles

A further proof of Hollywood's growing importance as a style center, one of the national magazines may shortly offer its women subscribers patterns of gowns worn by some of the more glamorous stars.

The idea is to obtain original sketches from the studio designers and print them about the time of the picture's release. Thus, the film company gets a plug for its production and the magazine acquires a feature that should go big with women cinema fans.

Just how big may be guessed from the hundreds of letters studios receive from women who would copy gowns they admire on the backs of their favorite film stars. As motion picture styles always are in advance of the times, these studio designs would be up-to-date, regardless of the time elapsed between the making of the picture and the date of its release.

And there's no doubt many a girl in the land who would like to own a dress like the one Joan Crawford or Constance Bennett wears in her latest picture.

Chester Erskin, one of New York's better-known stage directors, will return to Broadway to do three plays and then will cast his lot permanently with the films.

In the world of the theater Mr. Erskin is noted for his direction of "Subway Express," "Harlem," "The Criminal Code," "The Last Mile" and other successes. For the last two months, however, he has been going to cinema school under the tutelage of Lewis Milestone.

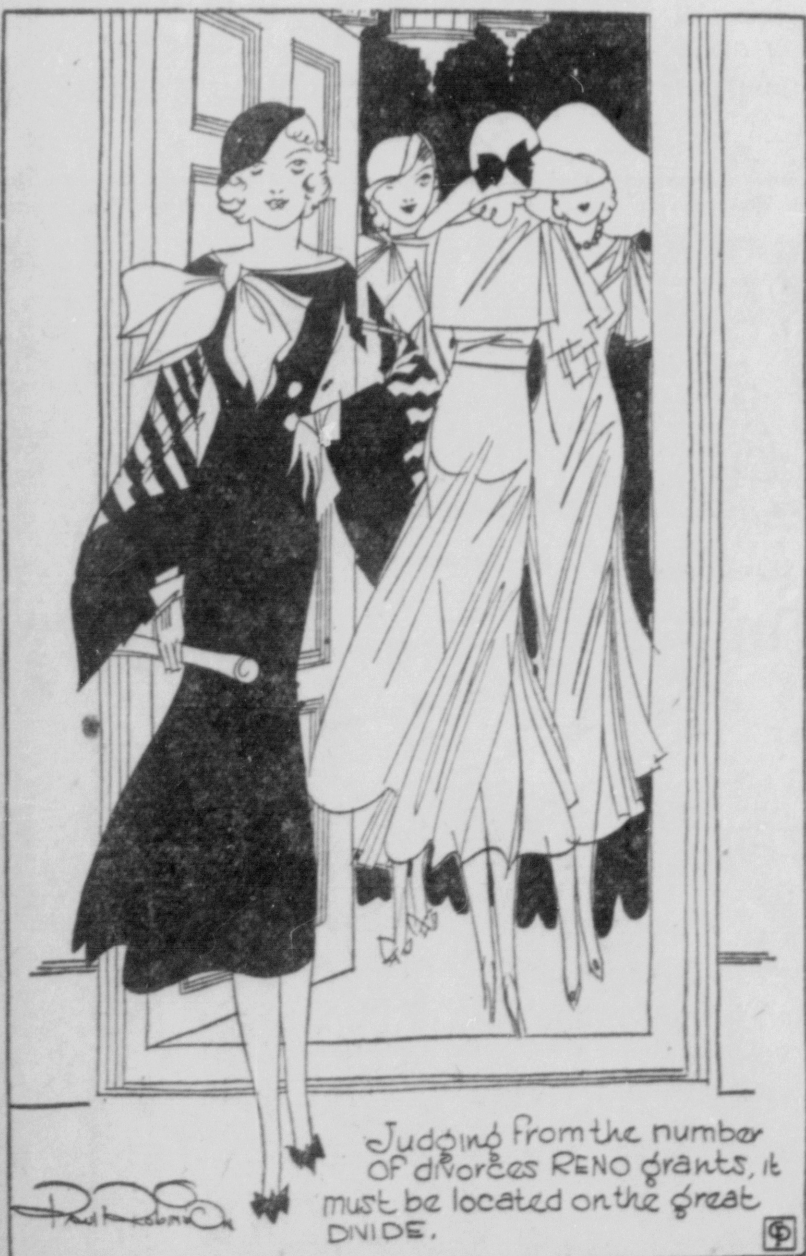

He has seen the picture "Rain," filmed from start to finish and he is enthusiastic about the screen medium. "It is one of the steps in the development of the theater," he contends. "I intend to stick with it."

Before he cleans up his Broadway affairs, however, Erskin hopes to develop picture material with three players. If it can be arranged the first will be a dramatization of Christianson's "Two Living, One Dead."

Meanwhile he may try his hand at directing one picture for United Artists. He and Milestone are searching for a suitable story.

Jean Harlow and Paul Bern are planning no honeymoon trip, at least for the time being. They will return to the studio immediately.

PILGRIMAGE TO WASHINGTON AS PRIZE IS DESCRIBED BY ONE CONTEST WINNER

An account of a trip made to Washington, D. C., by four Greene County students, during the latter part of May, as told by Elaine Knoop, Spring Valley, one of the students, follows. The trip was the prize offered in an every-pupil George Washington essay contest, under auspices of the George Washington Bicentennial commission. It was financed by the group of individuals to whom the students are grateful.

MY PILGRIMAGE TO WASHINGTON

Truly our tour to Washington, D. C., and surrounding places was most interesting to me, as I had only traveled in the western part of our own state. I shall never forget many of the places which we visited.

The manager, who conducted the pilgrimage by bus, had all the details of the trip so well in hand that we had nothing such as hotels, rooms, meals, and baggage about which to worry. We were entirely free from care and could fully enjoy ourselves.

The season of the year and the weather were ideal for traveling. All nature was clothed in new garments. Beautiful to behold were the hills and mountains. We gained our best view from Summit Hotel and other high points near Uniontown, Pa.

Our group accompanied by efficient government guides spent one morning driving over the battlefields of Gettysburg. We walked through the Soldiers' National Cemetery, where Lincoln gave his immortal "Gettysburg Address." We felt as if we were walking on sacred ground, when they asked us to be quiet and read again Lincoln's brief and simple speech.

The Lee House was our headquarters, while we were in Washington, D. C. We spent four nights there and returned to it each day for our lunch and dinner.

Washington is a very beautiful city. Within it are many shade trees, parks, monuments and government buildings. How appropriate that the "Father of the land we love" selected the site of that great city, the heart of a nation which upholds such high ideals as are found in the Declaration of Independence and in the Constitution! Certainly, we are impressed by the greatness and grandeur of our country, when we see the Capitol, Congressional Library, Pan-American Building, Art Gallery, Smithsonian Institute, and the monuments.

At the Bureau of Engraving and Printing we saw stamps and paper money being made. Now we can better comprehend the number of bills necessary to keep money in circulation.

I especially liked the Lincoln Memorial. Probably it is because I have much admiration for the man in whose memory it was erected. The Memorial has twelve pillars on each of its four sides. Within it is a sitting statue of Lincoln, which is perhaps twelve feet high. As you stand within the Memorial facing this, you can see his two most famous speeches—"The Gettysburg Address" and his "Second Inaugural Address"—on the side walls. At night when the statue is illuminated, it is very impressive to see it and the Memorial's reflection in the pool.

The Pan-American Building is a fascinating place to visit. Surely the unity of the western hemisphere is symbolized in this building. As we entered it, we were taken into a tropical garden. A movable roof above it is closed in winter. We were shown the room in which the twenty-one representatives of the countries of America met to settle disputes by arbitration. Later we were allowed to enter the room. The director of the Pan-American Union was there and shook hands with each of us. He then proceeded to tell of the work of the Union, mentioning the disputes which had recently been settled peacefully. We stood near the large table around which are twenty-one chairs, all but one of which bear the name of a country. These chairs are arranged according to the length of time each representative has served his country. The Aztec Garden and the home of the director near this building are picturesque.

We visited the White House, as well as the Capitol Building. We shall all cherish the picture taken of our group and President Hoover on the White House lawn. At the Capitol we sat in the galleries of the rooms where the United States representatives and senators meet. We heard a part of a speech which was being delivered by both a representative and a senator. We saw the room in which the judges of the Supreme Court meet.

The artistic Congressional Library signifies that the founders of our country wanted its future citizens to be well educated. Its beauty at night is ineffable.

We drove over the new highway via Alexandria to Mt. Vernon, Washington's favorite home. There Washington spent much of his home life and entertained many friends. I wonder if we should inherit such a mansion when we are twenty if we could manage it as well as he did! One could hardly imagine a home so fine nearly two hundred years ago. Not only his home but also his lawn and his flower garden are spacious. Mt. Vernon is ideally situated in that from it one can have a wonderful view of the majestic waters of the Potomac River.

The Washington Monument is a striking structure. It is made of granite and terminates in an aluminum pyramid at the top. Since it is over five hundred and fifty-five feet in height, it is the highest work of masonry in the world. This monument fittingly stands above all the other buildings in the city as Washington towered above his contemporaries in stature and in personal ability to command men. Its reflection in the nearby waters is very impressive, too.

On the walls of three large rooms in the Art Gallery there is a wonderful display of pictures of Washington, his family, and either his cabinet members or their wives. Many of these pictures have been loaned by individuals for the Bicentennial Celebration. They will be there until next Thanksgiving Day.

The new Amphitheater at Arlington is immense in structure and beautiful in design. The only three days of the year that it is used are—Mothers' Day, Memorial Day and Armistice Day. A sentinel guards the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier of the World War, which is on the approach into the Amphitheater. Lee's home, also near the Arlington Cemetery, gave a good idea of the homes of that period.

We organized at the Summit Hotel the last evening we spent together. The name we chose for our group is "The Ohio George Washington Bicentennial Pilgrimage Association." It is the aim of the organization to have a meeting in Columbus each year, so that we may perpetuate our friendships. This proves that we appreciated the delightful fellowship we had enjoyed together. For myself I am grateful for the privilege I had of being with so many fine, studious, young people and for the experience of the trip.

The Ohio Bicentennial Commission could not have planned a better way, whereby they could impress upon the minds of Ohio's youth the fine qualities and attributes of George Washington, than they did when they made it possible for the boys and girls to make a pilgrimage to Washington, D. C., Mt. Vernon and other places where Washington lived, worked, fought, and died. We have often heard educators say that we remember things longer when we see them than when we read or hear them.

I know that it has been an inspiration to each of us to try to be good citizens. How glad we are that we live in a country where people hold in reverence such men of noble character as Washington and Lincoln! Surely we must do our part for our country. We could profit by following Washington's wholesome example and wise counsel. Who would not like to have it said of him, as Andrew Reed, in 1833, said of Washington: "Washington"

"The brave—the wise—the good, Supreme in War, in Council and in Peace. Valiant without ambition; Discreet without fear; Confident without presumption; In disaster, calm; in success, moderate; in all, Himself; The Hero—the Patriot—the Christian; The Father of Nations; the Friend of Mankind; Who, when he had won all, sought in the bosom of his family and nature, Retirement; And in the hope of religion, Immortality."

SENTENCE AUTOIST AFTER GUILTY PLEA

Changing his plea to guilty, John J. Bennett, 38, Dayton, charged with operating an auto while intoxicated, was fined $100 and costs, given a thirty-day jail sentence and his driving rights were revoked for six months by Municipal Judge E. Dawson Smith Wednesday. Bennett figured in an auto mishap on the Dayton Pike last Tuesday, his car swerving off the highway and plunging backward down a steep embankment.

DO YOU INHALE?

What's there to be afraid of?

7 out of 10 inhale knowingly—the other 3 do so unknowingly!

Do you inhale? Lucky Strike meets the vital issue fairly and squarely... for it has solved the vital problem. Its famous purifying process removes certain impurities that are concealed in even the choicest, mildest tobacco leaves. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it! Do you inhale? Of course you inhale! Every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette.
